Congress debates Vietnam proposals

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation to provide humanitarian aid to South Vietnam and authorize U.S. troops to assistin evacuations bogged down in the Senate again today as new figures showed the administration had failed to meet its target on withdrawal of Americans.

However, the House took up a parallel measure with broader authority to use U.S. troops in the evacuations.

Sen. Floyd V. Haskell, D-Colo., said he was not consulted on Tuesday's agreement to include time limitations on the use of troops in the Senate measure. Haskell said he plans to offer amendments to bar use of U.S. forces to evacuate South Vietnamese.

"If South Vietnamese want to hop on one of our planes, that is all right with me," Haskell told reporters. "I don't want to send in troops to get South Vietnamese."

He said the Ford administration already has constitutional authority to evacuate Americans and he expressed fear that, if the Senate measure is passed "the airlift of our people out may well slow down."

Sen. Dick Clark, D-Iowa, said new State Department figures showed that as of 6 p.m. Wednesday, Saigon time, there were 1,887 U.S. citizens and 652 dependents remaining in South e$0n The total of 2,539 compares with 3,118 a day earlier. The administration had said it planned to reduce the number of Americans to 1,500 by Tuesday night, Vietnam time.

Clark said he plans to offer an amendment requiring the number of Americans and dependents in South Vietnam to be reduced to 500 within 36 hours of the measure's enactment.

Administration officials said U.S. diplomatic efforts are aimed at saving the city of Saigon from the ravages of war.

If a cease-fire and a political settlement can be achieved before Hanoi's troops enter Saigon, U.S. officials say they are confident that many thousands of South Vietnamese can be evacuated.

The Saigon government proposed an immediate cease-fire early today, but the Viet Cong rejected the offer.

Up to 131,000 Indochina refugees will be permitted to enter the United States under emergency steps approved by Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi.

The total includes up to 75,000 Vietnamese who are close relatives of American citizens or permanent U.S. residents; up to 50,000 Vietnamese who would be endangered in a Communist takeover of South Vietnam; 1,000 Cambodian refugees now in Thailand; and 5,000 Cambodian diplomats and their dependents now in third countries.

In addition, there are another 3,000 Vietnamese who are relatives of American citizens and who already have filed their petitions for U.S. visas. They would be permitted to enter under existing procedures.

Meanwhile, the Senate and House were expected to vote later today on separate bills authorizing U.S. troops to be used in the evacuation if necessary and for humanitarian aid to the Saigon government.

The 1,500 total was described as the minimum needed to carry out essential embassy functions and a number that could be evacuated in a one-day helicopter airlift if Saigon comes under direct North Vietnamese attack.

Maid of Cotton admires flowers in Finland

Early on a Saturday morning at Helsinki's Market Place, Kathryn Tenkhoff, 22-year-old Maid of Cotton from Sikeston, began her European tour as cotton's ambassador dressed in corduroy and twill in Finland's capital. Here she stops before one of the many flower stalls that dot the square-even in the dead of winter. A Finnish home is seldom without a flower.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article about Miad of Cotton Kathryn Tenkhoff of Sikeston was written by a former Missourian, Margaret Benson Virkkunen. The article concerns Miss Tenkhoff's visit to Helsinki, Finland, Mrs. Virkkunen's hometown. Mrs. Virkkunen, formerly of Columbia, Mo., was hired to work in Sen. Stuart Symington's office in September 1958 by the late Kathryn Blanton Roberts, the senator's secretary and a former Sikeston resident. While in Washington for three years she met her husband, a State Department grantee in communications. They moved to Finland in 1955, came back to Washington later and then returned to Finland where her husband became director of public relations for Finnair.)

By MARGARET VIRKKUNEN

HELSINKI, Finland — Kathryn Tenkhoff, the National Cotton Council's 1975 Maid of Cotton, arrived in Helsinki just three weeks and three snow flurries short of spring. According to an old Finnish proverb, three drifters and seven flurries must fall "to make a Spring."

The poised, soft-spoken 22-year-old blonde charmed columnists from three of Helsinki's daily newspapers, Helsingin Sanomat, Uusi Suomi and the Swedish language paper, Huvfudstadsbladet, at a press conference arranged by the capital's largest department store, Stockmann. Finlayson-Forssa, the country's foremost manufacturer of cotton textiles, was also represented.

The luncheon was wedged in between a series of fashion shows in which Miss Tenkhoff appeared as a model for the store's design line of Finnish cottons, and where she distributed bolls of American cotton to an appreciative crowd of shoppers.

Kathy, a native of Sikeston, Mo., and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alton Tenkhoff of 118 Thomas Drive, Sikeston, explained to the Finnish press that she was the 37th Maid of Cotton to be sent abroad by the Cotton Council to promote the cotton industry on a worldwide basis.

"Cotton is a part of my life", said the winsome Missourian. "I was born in the Bootheel — down in the southeastern corner where we have always grown cotton, but cotton has never really been a part of my state's image — one always thinks of corn, wheat and soybeans!"

She then acknowledged that perhaps this was the reason she was the first Maid of Cotton to be chosen from Missouri in the council's 37-year history.

"You must be from a cotton-growing state to enter," she added.

Kathy was one of 20 finalists who had been sifted from 200 applicants. Each applicant was nominated by an organization and each had been asked to submit a resume to the National Cotton Council in Memphis.

"It was like filling out a complete form for a job," she said, "a d that's just what it is — a wonderful job that takes you to other countries where you learn about other cultures, other peoples and have the opportunity to discover new uses of cotton in industry, fashion and the home."

She considers this well worth sacrificing a semester away from her studies at the University of Missouri's School of Journalism, where she is a senior majoring in retail advertising.

During the luncheon-conference, Kathy was asked if the blue jean craze had "bottomed out" in the States. Responding with a quick, warm smile, she admitted jeans are still very much in evidence but instead of the ragged, dirty, sloppy varieties seen earlier, they are now neat and clean. She added that it may have been the blue jean craze that created so much interest in natural fibers among teen-agers. According to Kathy, there is a genuine interest now in natural fibers and cotton fabrics, remembered by an older generation, such as seersucker, voile, gauze and poplin, which are making an impressive comeback.

"They are appearing in beautiful, soft, feminine colors in skirts, blouses and dresses and are being snapped up and worn by all ages. I have a whole wardrobe of cotton that was donated by the council."

Members of the press asked if the suit of beige-brown plaid on off-white she was wearing was made of cotton and the Maid replied that indeed it was even though few people recognized the fact.

The Maid of Cotton began the European leg of an extensive 30-city tour in London. After a week there, she arrived in Helsinki for four days, from where she was to go to Stockholm, Oslo and finally Paris.

Before she said goodby to the Finnish press, Kathy mentioned, "This is the first time Finland has been included in the overseas tours, and that is because this country has now received a long overdue recognition of its outstanding contribution to cotton textile design and its significant purchase of American cotton."

So said the very pretty Maid of Cotton from a state that is also receiving some long overdue recognition — Missouri and her Bootheel Cotton Belt.

Marks of leadership emphasized by Mallory

HOWARDVILLE — Dr. Arthur L. Mallory, State commissioner of education, who spoke Tuesday night at an academic honors banquet for selected students in the New Madrid R-1 Enlarged School District, told the young people that knowledge, service to others, compassion and respect for the system were marks of leadership for responsible persons.

"But, more than anything else, I genuinely believe we should consider the wisdom of our founding fathers who said we will build this nation upon a foundation of faith, the cornerstone of which will be a belief in God.

"We just must learn to worship our God with humility, with regularity and with no shame. Kids, if you can do that, you can be somebody. You can have guaranteed success in the morning for breakfast. It takes an effort, but you've made the effort thus far. You are considered honored people."

Over 300 persons attended the banquet at the Vocational-Technical School, which was hosted by the board of education to pay tribute to outstanding academic students.

Joe Butler, Portageville High School senior and president of the school's National Honor Society who served as master of ceremonies, extended greetings and introduced the guest speaker.

Other honor students from each of the district's units appearing on the program were Miss Sherry Lewis of Parma High School, who led the pledge allegiance; Miss Karen Horton, of New Madrid High School, who sang the National Anthem; Miss Patty Gee of Lilbourn High School, who presented remarks of appreciation; and David Moore of Matthews School, who gave the benediction.

Supt. Ray Melton welcomed the guests. T.L. Maschmeyer, president of the school board, remarked that he hoped the honors banquet could continue as an annual event.

Organ dinner music was provided by Robert Donze, New Madrid High School band director.

Among the guests were parents of the honored students; State Sen. Nelson B. Tinnin; State Rep. Fred E. Industrial park committee to check locations

A committee appointed to choose a site for an industrial park will check possible locations for the price of land.

The committee met at noon Tuesday at the El Capri Resturant. The committee is made up of members of the Chamber of commerce, Sikeston Industrial Development Corporation and the City Council.

The committee intends to find out how much money the city will need to purchase a park of 50 to 100 acres. The group also wants to know if the city can get an option on any of the property.

The committee decided it will rate sites on the basis of several criteria including topography; acreage; access to roads, rail; facilities and utilities; visibility from road; and cost.

The sites being considered were designated in a recent study conducted for the city by an engineering firm.

The group decided to meet again at noon next Tuesday.

Rob Mitchell was elected chairman of the committee.

300 expected at banquet

Tickets are still available for the Chamber of Commerce Man of the Year banquet at 6:30 p.m. Thursday at the Ramada Inn.

Charlie Plumb, a Navy pilot who spent nearly six years in a North Vietnamese prisoner of war camp, will be the speaker.

More than 300 people are expected to attend the dinner.

Plumb's fighter plane was shot down over North Vietnam in May 1967.

His speeches and book describe life in a prison camp, the tortures and propaganda used by the Communists and the techniques prisoners used to survive.

Charlie Plumb

He has been awarded the Navy Commendation Medal, Purple Heart and Silver Star. He retired from the Navy last year as a lieutenant commander.

Plumb has made hundreds of appearanes before groups ranging from Cub Scouts to college audiences and has appeared on national television programs.

He is an honorary director of Junior Achievement of of Kansas City and is active in patriotic and veterans' programs throughout the country.

Money taken from restaurant

A man took $100 from Kellett's Restaurant, 901 S. Main St., early today and burglars broke into Hedrick Concrete Products Corp., according to police.

Police said a man walked into the restaurant about 1:30 a.m. and ordered a cheeseburger. When the waitress stepped into the kitchen to place the order, the man apparently opened the cash register and took about $100.

The waitress told police the man was at the door when she stepped out of the kitchen. He told her he would return in a minute, and then left. He was seen getting into a car with three other men and then leaving.

Burglars entered the concrete firm through a window sometime Tuesday night or early this morning, according to police.

Taken were two clocks, a tape recorder and camera. A gum machine was broken, but no gum or change was taken. The offices also were ransacked, police said.

No money was taken because money is not kept in the offices.

Heritage House addition okayed

A $100,000 loan has been authorized for a 2,500-square foot addition to the Heritage House, according to Bill Hanna, executive director of Sikeston Housing Authority.

In addition, the housing authority as been loaned $4,000 to provide cathodic protection to the gas lines in the housing project. The protection will remove static electricity from the lines.

Both low interest loans are being made to the housing authority by the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Hanna said the addition will include a kitchen and multipurpose room with basement storage under both rooms. The added storage space will relieve a storage problem at the Heritage House, Hanna said. The multipurpose room will have a kiln for ceramic work.

The addition was planned because the dining facilities are too small to handle the number of people who eat lunch every day at the Heritage House, Hanna said.

The present facility seats only 78 people, but the lunch program is serving 200 a day. Also the present kitchen is only a temporary facility, Hanna said.

When the additon is finished, the building will seat 125 people, in addition to the multipurpose room. The 50 additonal people will be seated in the area now occupied by the temporary kitchen.

Hanna said the addition will be located on the east side of the building. He said he hopes bids can be let in July.

Sen. Symington will retire

ST. LOUIS AP--Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., a spokesman in national military and foreign affairs for nearly 30 years, will not seek re-election to the Senate in 1976.

Symington, one of Missouri's most prolific vote-getters since he first swept to an overwhelming Senate win in 1952, announced the surprise decision Tuesday, citing the 1972 death of his wife, Evelyn, and anxiety on the part of Missouri Democrat as to his plans.

"This is a sad day for me. But it's a realistice day," he told a news conference. "During my previous campaigns, my wife was my political partner. When I lost her, frankly, it cooled my ambitions."

The 73-year-old Symington said he made the decision about two weeks ago at a Jackson Day Dinner in Springfield, Mo., after noticing that many state Democrats were concerned with his plans. He had previously indicated he would seek another term.

The announcement spawned speculation of a drawn-out, wide-open 1976 race for Symington's Senate seat, including the possible candidacy of the senator's son, Rep. James Symington, D-Mo.

The only announced Democratic candidates for the office are former Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, who is being investigated by a federal grand jury in Kansas City for possible corruption during his administration; former Jackson County prosecuting attorney Joseph Teasdale, and attorney Michael J. Kennedy of Kansas City.

Sen. Stuart Symington

Both the younger Symington and Rep. Jerry Litton, D-Mo., however, have also expressed interest in the office, pending the senator's decision.

Symington declined to say who he would support as his successor, claiming he made it a point "to stay out of primaries."

He said he did not know his son's plans, but added, "If he wants to run ... after all, he's my son and I'm very proud of him. It would be very difficult for me to look him in the eye and not support him if he wants to run."

Missouri Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth, who was defeated by Symington in 1970, is expected to seek the Republican nomination for the Senate, although he has not yet announced his decision.

Symington, viewed as one of the chief architects of the country's postwar defense systems, is the second ranking member of the Senate Armed Services Committee after Chairman John C. Stennis, D-Miss., and acted as chairman of that committee when Stennis was

Sen. Symington will retire

ST. LOUIS AP--Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., a spokesman in national military and foreign affairs for nearly 30 years, will not seek re-election to the Senate in 1976.

Symington, one of Missouri's most prolific vote-getters since he first swept to an overwhelming Senate win in 1952, announced the surprise decision Tuesday, citing the 1972 death of his wife, Evelyn, and anxiety on the part of Missouri Democrat as to his plans.

"This is a sad day for me. But it's a realistice day," he told a news conference. "During my previous campaigns, my wife was my political partner. When I lost her, frankly, it cooled my ambitions."

The 73-year-old Symington said he made the decision about two weeks ago at a Jackson Day Dinner in Springfield, Mo., after noticing that many state Democrats were concerned with his plans. He had previously indicated he would seek another term.

The announcement spawned speculation of a drawn-out, wide-open 1976 race for Symington's Senate seat, including the possible candidacy of the senator's son, Rep. James Symington, D-Mo.

The only announced Democratic candidates for the office are former Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, who is being investigated by a federal grand jury in Kansas City for possible corruption during his administration; former Jackson County prosecuting attorney Joseph Teasdale, and attorney Michael J. Kennedy of Kansas City.

Both the younger Symington and Rep. Jerry Litton, D-Mo., however, have also expressed interest in the office, pending the senator's decision.

Symington declined to say who he would support as his successor, claiming he made it a point "to stay out of primaries."

He said he did not know his son's plans, but added, "If he wants to run ... after all, he's my son and I'm very proud of him. It would be very difficult for me to look him in the eye and not support him if he wants to run."

Missouri Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth, who was defeated by Symington in 1970, is expected to seek the Republican nomination for the Senate, although he has not yet announced his decision.

Symington, viewed as one of the chief architects of the country's postwar defense systems, is the second ranking member of the Senate Armed Services Committee after Chairman John C. Stennis, D-Miss., and acted as chairman of that committee when Stennis was

PREDICTING EARTHQUAKES

Bit by bit, science is getting closer to being able to predict earthquakes.

According to Dr. V. E. McKelvey, director of the U. S. Geological Survey, an important milestone was reached last Thanksgiving when an earthquake of magnitude 5.2 on the Richter Scale occurred between the San Andreas and Calaveras faults about 10 miles north of Hollister, Calif.

Survey scientistss at the National Center for Earthquake Research at Menlo Park, Calif., had anticipated this quake from a number of significant changes they had observed weeks before in the earth's crust and magnetic field. This was the first time, says McKelvey, that such a variety of "precursory phenomena" had been observed for a single earthquake.

He emphasizes, however, that the ability to detect similar telltale clues in the future is presently limited to that area. Also, much more research and much more extensive installation of geophysical instruments must be accomplished before earthquake predictions will be useful in planning for public safety.

According to the reports we get, oil production among the OPEC countries is down 10 to 50 per cent, and the uneven loss of sales is causing strains among the oil producing states. Five heads of state, including King Faisal of Saudi Arabia, didn't even bother to show up at the recent OPEC summit meeting. Official prices have been cut in Libya, Algeria, Nigeria, and Abu Dhabi, and prices are being secretly shaded in other ways. BOOST TO THE ECONOMY

The tax reduction bill signed over the week end by President Ford should give a huge boost to our national economy, spark new sales and developments, and help us to get out of the present economic doldrums.

It is difficult for most people to see how an additional $100 to $200 will help each one of us individually, but multiply that by millions of people and the impact upon the economy can be tremendous.

Perhaps this is the start of better times for all of us.

BUTZ HINTS FORD WILL HAVE TO COMPROMISE FARM BILL

Congressional officials were optimistic Tuesday that President Ford would accept a scaled-down version of an emergency one-year farm bill, but Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz indicated later in the day that Mr. Ford would veto the measure.

The report from Butz came in a telephone call to Hyde Murray, GOP counsel to the House Agriculture Committee. Murray said Butz "indicated to me the President was going to veto the bill."

Murray said the secretary told him that the favorable impression gained by several Republican members of Congress who had visited with the Preisdent Monday was "wrong."

"Open Mind"

Senator Robert Dole (Rep., Kan.) who had met with Mr. Ford Monday, emerged from the White Houe saying he believed the President would "keep an open mind" on the bill and would study congressional cost estimates seriously.

Dole and other GOP farm-state members said Mr. Ford appeared impressed with congressional estimates that the bill would cost about one-fifth as much as Butz has predicted.

Earlier Tuesday, declaring their belief that the White House would accept a compromise, members of a House-Senate conference committee voted unanimously to scrap a 3-year Senate bill and recommend passage of a more modest House measure.

Members of both parties said the move was unusual in that Senate members gave up some favorite provisions, including supports for tobacco farmers and higher federal price guarantees for cotton producers.

Butz and Agriculture Department officials have fought the farm bill and have given varying estimates of its cost. At one point the department said the bill would cost $2.5 billion this year and up to $10 billion a year by 1977.

Just this week, Butz said the bill would cost $1 billion this year and $4 billion by 1977.

The Houe and Senate agriculture committee staffs have estimated the 1975 cost of the bill at $$210 million. This figure was obrtained by subtracting the cost of support loans and dairy purchases because they leave the government with commoditieswhich later could be sold or used in aid programs.

Both the House and Senate are expected to pass the one-year bill by overwhelming margins, and Representative Neal Smith (Dem.,., Ia.) predicted Tuesday that if Mr. Ford vetoes the measure, "I think there's a good chance we can override."

Smith said he bvelieves the measure has "a better than 50-50 chance of becoming law."

The farm bill, as it probably will go to the White House sometime next week, provides for:

+ A federal target price on corn at $2.25 a bushel, compared to the present $1.38.

— A wheat target price of $3.10 a bushel, compared to $2.05.

— A guarantee to dairy farmers of receiving prices based on at least 80 per cent of parity (100 per cent means prices farmers receive are keeping pace with their costs.)

Also, the bill establishes higher commodity loans to farmers.

Under this bill, farmers could place soybeans under loan to the government and receive $3.94 a bushel. They would have 18 months in which to repay the loan, or the government would keep the soybeans.

Corn loan rates would be raised from the present $1.10 a bushel to $1.87, and wheat loans from $1.37 to $2.50.

In all cases, the Senate version provided for sharply higher target prices and loan rates.

Consumer Costs

Farm bloc legislators say the only consumer cost rises in the bill would be an average 1975 increase of less than 2 cent a gallon for milk, 2.8 cents a pound for cheese and about 2.4 cents a pound for butter.

Senate Agriculture Committee Chairman Herman Talmadge of Georgia and Representative W. R. Poage (Dem., Tex.) chairman of the House livestock and grains subcommittee, predicted the final bill will be approved by margins of two-thirds or more — enough to over-ride a veto if it comes.

The original Senate bill had passed by 57 to 25, with two more than a two-thirds majority. The House vote of 259 to 162 was 22 short of two-thirds, but Smith and some others believe enough voters can be shifted in a showdown over a veto.

"No Solid GOP Help"

"The President won't have help from any solid lineup of Republicans," said Smith, who noted that farm-state GOP congressmen are worried over political ramifications of a veto.

Backers of the bill say farmers can't be expected to produce bumper crops if such production will lead to a sharp drop in commodity prices. They say the government must be willing to guarantee farmers a fair price.

Butz contends the bill will lead to a collapse of higher farm prices of recent years, that the government would once again acquire huge stocks of grain and that export sales would be damaged by what he calls government "interference" in agriculture.

CITIZENS SAY 'NO' TO ARMS PEDDLING

If one opinion poll doth a national consensus make, Americans are fed up with being arms peddler to the world.

The American public votes a resounding "No" to continuation of U.S. military aid not only to South Vietnam (three to one agains) and the Arab countries (eight to one against) but even to Israel (two to one against).

Such were the results of a national telephone poll conducted by Opinion Research Corp. of Princeton, N. J. among a national probability sample of 1,000 adults aged 18 and over.

The anti-aid sentiment cut across all income levels and all lines of political affilaiation, say the researchers.

Just how much this poll, which did not go into any depth, is representative of true American attitudes is open to question. Surely not many people are happy about the prospect of South Vietnam going under to the Communists. Even fewer would wish to abandon Israel to her enemies.

But superficial and simplistic as it may be, the poll does express the growing disenchantment of Americans with our policy, however much that policy has been forced upon us, of involving ourselves in every squabble and rivalry in every part of the world — sometimes even to the point of arming both sides, as for examples, India and Pakistan, Greece and Turkey.

Last fiscal year, the United States, far and away the world's leading merchant of arms, sold $8.3 billion worth of military equipment. Where once it was obsolescent, secnd- hand stuff, today our clients sometimes receive the latest weapons of war before our own services are equipped.

To instruct in the use of the weapons, U.S. military assistance teams, both government and private under contract, are in no less than 34 countries.

Most recently, Ethiopia, running out of bullets in its fight againt Arab-backed, Soviet-armed secessionist guerrillas in Eritrea province, asked the United States for an emergency airlift of $30 million worth of ammunition.

Which put the State Department in a quandary: Whether to supply the ammunition and jeopardize relations with the Arabs, who are starting to spend beaucoup petrodollars on (U.S.) weapons, or not supply it and risk a break with Ethiopia.

It is not easy being the Arsenal of Democracy.

RECYCLING TO DOUBLE AT PAPER COMPANY

Directors of Georgia-Pacific Corp. have authorized a project to double paper recycling at the company's Kalamazoo, Mich., paper operation.

The project, which will cost most than $3 million, uses a new process to reduce recycling energy requirement and minimize pollution as well as raw material costs. It will enable better removal of printing and processing impurities from used paper, allowing the company to replace an equal tonnage of virgin raw pulp now required to maintain the quality of printing papers in which recycled fiber is specified, a G-P spokesman explained.

The increased ability to remove industrial coatings means that the new system will provide a market for a substantial volume of previously unusable quality waste paper, according to G-P.

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:
Breaking the Lobbyists' Code
By JACK ANDERSON with Les Whitten

WASHINGTON--The delicate art of influencing legislation--popularly known as lobbying, named for the Capitol where the backstage persuasion often occurs--has moved a great distance from the days when professional pleaders prowled the Capitol corridors twisting legislative arms.

Today, the Chamber of Commerce uses a computer to keep track of the Members of Congress who may need a little gentle persuasion. The infernal instrument identifies not only the legislators who may require some quiet pressure but the businessmen back home who can best apply it.

This scientific system is now being brought to bear upon consumer legislation. With a great whirring of little wheels, the electronic mastermind is helping the Chamber to deploy its forces most effectively to kill the Consumer Protection Agency. bill.

The Chamber's chief lobbyist, Hilton Davis, has developed computerized files which list Members of Congress and the home-state businessmen who have the most influence over them.

"What I'd like you to do," he wrote privately to corporate executives whose names went into the computer, "is indicate those Senators and Representatives with whom your company has a constituent relationship. That will permit me to signal the right people when special need arises for assistance with a specific legislator."

Then the big names are brought in from the home states to make the personal contacts. They are guided unerringly to the right doors by the clocking, whirring machine in the Chamber's headquarters.

We have now cracked the secret code of the Chamber's master computer, which sorts the wheat from the chaff on Capitol Hill not by name but by number. To the computer, for example, Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield is "So605" and Senate Republican leader Hugh Scott is "S0951." Speaker Carl Albert, who presides over the House, is "H0055."

The Chamber's chief stooge on Capitol Hill, Sen. James Allen, D.-Ala., is depersonalized into "S0036," while consumer champion Sen. James Abourezk, D.-S.D., has been assigned the James Bondian code number of "S0010."

The system works this way:

Suppose the Chamber wanted to put the squeeze on pro-consumer Sen. Mark Hatfield, R.-Ore. The computer operator would punch up Hatfield's code, "S0451." The machine would spit out the names of all Chamber members who own businesses in Oregon and who might be enlisted to join in pressuring Hatfield.

The computer would automatically address tabs or envelopes to these key businessmen. Clerks would insert specially prepared Chamber instructions, calling upon the businessmen to make personal phone calls and write letters to Hatfield. The ones with the most influence upon Hatfield would be hauled to Washington for personal visits.

The Chamber even encourages corporate executives to enlist their employes in the pressure campaign to defeat the consumer bills that would protect the employes.

Hilton Davis assured us there was nothing sinister about the Chamber's computerized lobbying, although he conceded the computer's codes and records were "confidential."

Davis said the system will merely cut mailing and clerical costs by getting out appeals selectively instead of to the general membership. "It doesn't frighten one at all," he said.

BUILDING BLUES: The House of Representatives, which gave the world the behemoth Rayburn building, a monument to self- indulgence, is about to do it all over again.

When the House was building its new parking garage, the architect of the Capitol assured the legislators a new office building could be built on top of it.

But now the new architect, George White, has had to tell congressmen that the garage will support no more than a squat, inadequate two-story structure. As a result, the House leadership wants to gobble up a historic 19th-century neighborhood and turn it into a building.

Typically, the House architect's office is playing games with the financial estimates. One of his estimates is as low as $80 million, although our own sources insist the cost will be closer to $300 million.

An alternate plan to tear down the nearby Congressional Hotel has been considered, but this would dislocate a handful of congressmen who don't want to be relocated. The cost of turning the hotel site into the office complex was estimated at $18 million in 1968. Now the estimate is $67 million.

TAX REWARD: Tax Analysts and Advocates, a public interest tax law firm, has fallen on bad economic days. It blew the whistle on the grain deal with the Soviets, the Nixon gift of pre-presidential papers as a tax rededuction, and Internal Revenue's refusal to make public tax rulings.

But foundations, apparently wary of the IRS, have stopped contributing to the consumer firm's financing.

Inside Labor
By Victor Riesel

Again the Challenge:
Black Union Coalition Convention To Demand
Strong Role in National Labor Leadership

WASHINGTON--A strong, angry black voice soon will be heard in Atlanta, Ga., demanding the end of the isolation of black leadership inside one of America's most powerful forces, the labor movement.

That voice, the blended shouts of some 1,500 delegates, will be heard a long way from the hotel ballroom several days in late May when the Coalition of Black Trade Unionists (CBTU) run their Fourth Annual National Convention.

Amid the thunderous news from Asia and the Middle East the black voices and their demands may not be heard. Amid the global headlines, the convention of black men and women from 44 international unions may not get the reportage it believes it deserves. But theirs is a voice which says it cannot long be denied.

Its power will depend on the skills of its leaders and on its 41-year-old, Memphis-born, California-bred president William Lucy. Today he's the most highly placed black inside labor--secretary--treasurer of the 750,000 -member American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees headed by the vocal Jerry Wurf. They're gung-ho for a million members in scores of cities.

The Black Coalition's potential is vast. If it fails it won't be for want of ghettos, market places and black unionists. There are now well over three million blacks in the labor movement itself. Welded and drawn from scores of unions and organized for a piece of the action, they can become a turning point force first in major "internationals" such as the United Steel Workers and the United Auto Workers, and then in labor's own national high command.

That's the potential significance of the indoor "march" on Atlanta. And it carries a blunt "challenge" which appears to discomfort some convention organizers. when they say it and it's repeated outside the circle.

Say they: "The CBTU will insist that black union officials become full partners in the leadership and decision-making of the American labor movement."

As for their defiance of some national white labor chiefs, the black convention call says: "It is our challenge to make the labor movement more relevant to the needs and aspirations of black and poor workers."

Some convention leaders point to the national executive boards of big unions and ask where is the black representation. They say that the two black AFL-CIO national vice presidents, Fred O'Neal and C.L. Dellums, are nice chaps but have no actual representative power bases. Respectively these two AFL-CIO Executive Council members speak for the Associated Actors and Artistes of America and the tiny Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters.

So the convention will do its thing--demand more representation in the national leadership and sit as a working committee of the whole to hear practical political organizing speeches from which the rhetoric will be trimmed, they hope.

It's meaningful, it seems to me, that they will be greeted by Pierce Jones, of the Atlanta organization who doubles as a CBTU Executive Council member. Mr. Jones will preside over the opening general session on Saturday morning, May 24.

Further, at the big midday Sunday session the keynote speaker will be Weldon Mathis. Though virtually unknown, he is of strong influence in the International Brotherhood of Teamsters. For, he is the executive assistant to general president Frank Fitzsimmons.

I find it intriguing that no other national labor chiefs are on the agenda, at least at this moment. And the schedule appears complete right down to the $12-a-ticket dinner dance and the closing session Monday, May 26. Those several days in May become more and more significant. Thus there's evidence of an across-the-board alliance from teachers to teamsters, from meatcutters to civil service workers.

Of course, there will be Coretta King, widow of the slain reverend. And Congressman Andrew Young who more and more is developing into a powerful influence in the Congressional Black Caucus.

It hasn't been all smooth going for the Black Coalition. They've found, for example that one of their supposedly favorite unions, the Amalgamated Meatcutters, has a big Midwest local which manipulatead the officers' elevation procedure to bypass placing a black in high office.

They found as much apathy among the black communities as in the white neighborhoods. Their five-city drive--Washington, D.C., New York, Detroit, Chicago and St. Louis--didn't bring out the marching masses.

So the Black Coalition's fourth convention will hear speeches in practical politics, in voter registration, in group action and in making the black voice louder. They know they'll first have to rattle the labor movement itself before they shake the nation.

BOOST TO THE ECONOMY

The tax reduction bill signed over the week end by President Ford should give a huge boost to our national economy, spark new sales and developments, and help us to get out of the present economic doldrums.

It is difficult for most people to see how an additional $100 to $200 will help each one of us individually, but multiply that by millions of people and the impact upon the economy can be tremendous.

Perhaps this is the start of better times for all of us.

BUTZ HINTS FORD WILL HAVE TO COMPROMISE FARM BILL

Congressional officials were optimistic Tuesday that President Ford would accept a scaled-down version of an emergency one-year farm bill, but Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz indicated later in the day that Mr. Ford would veto the measure.

The report from Butz came in a telephone call to Hyde Murray, GOP counsel to the House Agriculture Committee. Murray said Butz "indicated to me the President was going to veto the bill."

Murray said the secretary told him that the favorable impression gained by several Republican members of Congress who had visited with the Preisdent Monday was "wrong."

"Open Mind"

Senator Robert Dole (Rep., Kan.) who had met with Mr. Ford Monday, emerged from the White Houe saying he believed the President would "keep an open mind" on the bill and would study congressional cost estimates seriously.

Dole and other GOP farm-state members said Mr. Ford appeared impressed with congressional estimates that the bill would cost about one-fifth as much as Butz has predicted.

Earlier Tuesday, declaring their belief that the White House would accept a compromise, members of a House-Senate conference committee voted unanimously to scrap a 3-year Senate bill and recommend passage of a more modest House measure.

Members of both parties said the move was unusual in that Senate members gave up some favorite provisions, including supports for tobacco farmers and higher federal price guarantees for cotton producers.

Butz and Agriculture Department officials have fought the farm bill and have given varying estimates of its cost. At one point the department said the bill would cost $2.5 billion this year and up to $10 billion a year by 1977.

Just this week, Butz said the bill would cost $1 billion this year and $4 billion by 1977.

The Houe and Senate agriculture committee staffs have estimated the 1975 cost of the bill at $$210 million. This figure was obrtained by subtracting the cost of support loans and dairy purchases because they leave the government with commoditieswhich later could be sold or used in aid programs.

Both the House and Senate are expected to pass the one-year bill by overwhelming margins, and Representative Neal Smith (Dem.,, Ia.) predicted Tuesday that if Mr. Ford vetoes the measure, "I think there's a good chance we can override."

Smith said he bvelieves the measure has "a better than 50-50 chance of becoming law."

The farm bill, as it probably will go to the White House sometime next week, provides for:

+ A federal target price on corn at $2.25 a bushel, compared to the present $1.38.

— A wheat target price of $3.10 a bushel, compared to $2.05.

— A guarantee to dairy farmers of receiving prices based on at least 80 per cent of parity (100 per cent means prices farmers receive are keeping pace with their costs.)

Also, the bill establishes higher commodity loans to farmers.

Under this bill, farmers could place soybeans under loan to the government and receive $3.94 a bushel. They would have 18 months in which to repay the loan, or the government would keep the soybeans.

Corn loan rates would be raised from the present $1.10 a bushel to $1.87, and wheat loans from $1.37 to $2.50.

In all cases, the Senate version provided for sharply higher target prices and loan rates.

Consumer Costs

Farm bloc legislators say the only consumer cost rises in the bill would be an average 1975 increase of less than 2 cent a gallon for milk, 2.8 cents a pound for cheese and about 2.4 cents a pound for butter.

Senate Agriculture Committee Chairman Herman Talmadge of Georgia and Representative W. R. Poage (Dem., Tex.) chairman of the House livestock and grains subcommittee, predicted the final bill will be approved by margins of two-thirds or more — enough to over-ride a veto if it comes.

The original Senate bill had passed by 57 to 25, with two more than a two-thirds majority. The House vote of 259 to 162 was 22 short of two-thirds, but Smith and some others believe enough voters can be shifted in a showdown over a veto.

"No Solid GOP Help"

"The President won't have help from any solid lineup of Republicans," said Smith, who noted that farm-state GOP congressmen are worried over political ramifications of a veto.

Backers of the bill say farmers can't be expected to produce bumper crops if such production will lead to a sharp drop in commodity prices. They say the government must be willing to guarantee farmers a fair price.

Butz contends the bill will lead to a collapse of higher farm prices of recent years, that the government would once again acquire huge stocks of grain and that export sales would be damaged by what he calls government "interference" in agriculture.

CITIZENS SAY 'NO' TO ARMS PEDDLING

If one opinion poll doth a national consensus make, Americans are fed up with being arms peddler to the world.

The American public votes a resounding "No" to continuation of U.S. military aid not only to South Vietnam (three to one agains) and the Arab countries (eight to one against) but even to Israel (two to one against).

Such were the results of a national telephone poll conducted by Opinion Research Corp. of Princeton, N. J. among a national probability sample of 1,000 adults aged 18 and over.

The anti-aid sentiment cut across all income levels and all lines of political affilaiation, say the researchers.

Just how much this poll, which did not go into any depth, is representative of true American attitudes is open to question. Surely not many people are happy about the prospect of South Vietnam going under to the Communists. Even fewer would wish to abandon Israel to her enemies.

But superficial and simplistic as it may be, the poll does express the growing disenchantment of Americans with our policy, however much that policy has been forced upon us, of involving ourselves in every squabble and rivalry in every part of the world — sometimes even to the point of arming both sides, as for examples, India and Pakistan, Greece and Turkey.

Last fiscal year, the United States, far and away the world's leading merchant of arms, sold $8.3 billion worth of military equipment. Where once it was obsolescent, secnd- hand stuff, today our clients sometimes receive the latest weapons of war before our own services are equipped.

To instruct in the use of the weapons, U.S. military assistance teams, both government and private under contract, are in no less than 34 countries.

Most recently, Ethiopia, running out of bullets in its fight againt Arab-backed, Soviet-armed secessionist guerrillas in Eritrea province, asked the United States for an emergency airlift of $30 million worth of ammunition.

Which put the State Department in a quandary: Whether to supply the ammunition and jeopardize relations with the Arabs, who are starting to spend beaucoup petrodollars on (U.S.) weapons, or not supply it and risk a break with Ethiopia.

It is not easy being the Arsenal of Democracy.

RECYCLING TO DOUBLE AT PAPER COMPANY

Directors of Georgia-Pacific Corp. have authorized a project to double paper recycling at the company's Kalamazoo, Mich., paper operation.

The project, which will cost most than $3 million, uses a new process to reduce recycling energy requirement and minimize pollution as well as raw material costs. It will enable better removal of printing and processing impurities from used paper, allowing the company to replace an equal tonnage of virgin raw pulp now required to maintain the quality of printing papers in which recycled fiber is specified, a G-P spokesman explained.

The increased ability to remove industrial coatings means that the new system will provide a market for a substantial volume of previously unusable quality waste paper, according to G-P.

GOOD FOOD VALUES ARE STILL AVAILABLE

Frozen vegetable stocks are better than they were last year, and processed vegetables such as sauerkraut, canned spinach, beets and sweet potatoes will be good values.

Citrus fruits, especially lemons and oranges, will be plentiful, and there will be more than adequate supplies of frozen orange juice. Grapefruit production, however, is down 8 per cent from last year.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:
Breaking the Lobbyists' Code
By JACK ANDERSON with Les Whitten

WASHINGTON--The delicate art of influencing legislation--popularly known as lobbying, named for the Capitol where the backstage persuasion often occurs--has moved a great distance from the days when professional pleaders prowled the Capitol corridors twisting legislative arms.

Today, the Chamber of Commerce uses a computer to keep track of the Members of Congress who may need a little gentle persuasion. The infernal instrument identifies not only the legislators who may require some quiet pressure but the businessmen back home who can best apply it.

This scientific system is now being brought to bear upon consumer legislation. With a great whirring of little wheels, the electronic mastermind is helping the Chamber to deploy its forces most effectively to kill the Consumer Protection Agency. bill.

The Chamber's chief lobbyist, Hilton Davis, has developed computerized files which list Members of Congress and the home-state businessmen who have the most influence over them.

"What I'd like you to do," he wrote privately to corporate executives whose names went into the computer, "is indicate those Senators and Representatives with whom your company has a constituent relationship. That will permit me to signal the right people when special need arises for assistance with a specific legislator."

Then the big names are brought in from the home states to make the personal contacts. They are guided unerringly to the right doors by the clocking, whirring machine in the Chamber's headquarters.

We have now cracked the secret code of the Chamber's master computer, which sorts the wheat from the chaff on Capitol Hill not by name but by number. To the computer, for example, Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield is "So605" and Senate Republican leader Hugh Scott is "S0951." Speaker Carl Albert, who presides over the House, is "H0055."

The Chamber's chief stooge on Capitol Hill, Sen. James Allen, D.-Ala., is depersonalized into "S0036," while consumer champion Sen. James Abourezk, D.-S.D., has been assigned the James Bondian code number of "S0010."

The system works this way:

Suppose the Chamber wanted to put the squeeze on pro-consumer Sen. Mark Hatfield, R.-Ore. The computer operator would punch up Hatfield's code, "S0451." The machine would spit out the names of all Chamber members who own businesses in Oregon and who might be enlisted to join in pressuring Hatfield.

The computer would automatically address tabs or envelopes to these key businessmen. Clerks would insert specially prepared Chamber instructions, calling upon the businessmen to make personal phone calls and write letters to Hatfield. The ones with the most influence upon Hatfield would be hauled to Washington for personal visits.

The Chamber even encourages corporate executives to enlist their employes in the pressure campaign to defeat the consumer bills that would protect the employes.

Hilton Davis assured us there was nothing sinister about the Chamber's computerized lobbying, although he conceded the computer's codes and records were "confidential."

Davis said the system will merely cut mailing and clerical costs by getting out appeals selectively instead of to the general membership. "It doesn't frighten one at all," he said.

BUILDING BLUES: The House of Representatives, which gave the world the behemoth Rayburn building, a monument to self- indulgence, is about to do it all over again.

When the House was building its new parking garage, the architect of the Capitol assured the legislators a new office building could be built on top of it.

But now the new architect, George White, has had to tell congressmen that the garage will support no more than a squat, inadequate two-story structure. As a result, the House leadership wants to gobble up a historic 19th-century neighborhood and turn it into a building.

Typically, the House architect's office is playing games with the financial estimates. One of his estimates is as low as $80 million, although our own sources insist the cost will be closer to $300 million.

An alternate plan to tear down the nearby Congressional Hotel has been considered, but this would dislocate a handful of congressmen who don't want to be relocated. The cost of turning the hotel site into the office complex was estimated at $18 million in 1968. Now the estimate is $67 million.

TAX REWARD: Tax Analysts and Advocates, a public interest tax law firm, has fallen on bad economic days. It blew the whistle on the grain deal with the Soviets, the Nixon gift of pre-presidential papers as a tax rededuction, and Internal Revenue's refusal to make public tax rulings.

But foundations, apparently wary of the IRS, have stopped contributing to the consumer firm's financing.

Inside Labor
By Victor Riesel

Again the Challenge:
Black Union Coalition Convention To Demand
Strong Role in National Labor Leadership

WASHINGTON--A strong, angry black voice soon will be heard in Atlanta, Ga., demanding the end of the isolation of black leadership inside one of America's most powerful forces, the labor movement.

That voice, the blended shouts of some 1,500 delegates, will be heard a long way from the hotel ballroom several days in late May when the Coalition of Black Trade Unionists (CBTU) run their Fourth Annual National Convention.

Amid the thunderous news from Asia and the Middle East the black voices and their demands may not be heard. Amid the global headlines, the convention of black men and women from 44 international unions may not get the reportage it believes it deserves. But theirs is a voice which says it cannot long be denied.

Its power will depend on the skills of its leaders and on its 41-year-old, Memphis-born, California-bred president William Lucy. Today he's the most highly placed black inside labor--secretary--treasurer of the 750,000 -member American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees headed by the vocal Jerry Wurf. They're gung-ho for a million members in scores of cities.

The Black Coalition's potential is vast. If it fails it won't be for want of ghettos, market places and black unionists. There are now well over three million blacks in the labor movement itself. Welded and drawn from scores of unions and organized for a piece of the action, they can become a turning point force first in major "internationals" such as the United Steel Workers and the United Auto Workers, and then in labor's own national high command.

That's the potential significance of the indoor "march" on Atlanta. And it carries a blunt "challenge" which appears to discomfort some convention organizers. when they say it and it's repeated outside the circle.

Say they: "The CBTU will insist that black union officials become full partners in the leadership and decision-making of the American labor movement."

As for their defiance of some national white labor chiefs, the black convention call says: "It is our challenge to make the labor movement more relevant to the needs and aspirations of black and poor workers."

Some convention leaders point to the national executive boards of big unions and ask where is the black representation. They say that the two black AFL-CIO national vice presidents, Fred O'Neal and C.L. Dellums, are nice chaps but have no actual representative power bases. Respectively these two AFL-CIO Executive Council members speak for the Associated Actors and Artistes of America and the tiny Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters.

So the convention will do its thing--demand more representation in the national leadership and sit as a working committee of the whole to hear practical political organizing speeches from which the rhetoric will be trimmed, they hope.

It's meaningful, it seems to me, that they will be greeted by Pierce Jones, of the Atlanta organization who doubles as a CBTU Executive Council member. Mr. Jones will preside over the opening general session on Saturday morning, May 24.

Further, at the big midday Sunday session the keynote speaker will be Weldon Mathis. Though virtually unknown, he is of strong influence in the International Brotherhood of Teamsters. For, he is the executive assistant to general president Frank Fitzsimmons.

I find it intriguing that no other national labor chiefs are on the agenda, at least at this moment. And the schedule appears complete right down to the $12-a-ticket dinner dance and the closing session Monday, May 26. Those several days in May become more and more significant. Thus there's evidence of an across-the-board alliance from teachers to teamsters, from meatcutters to civil service workers.

Of course, there will be Coretta King, widow of the slain reverend. And Congressman Andrew Young who more and more is developing into a powerful influence in the Congressional Black Caucus.

It hasn't been all smooth going for the Black Coalition. They've found, for example that one of their supposedly favorite unions, the Amalgamated Meatcutters, has a big Midwest local which manipulated the officers' elevation procedure to bypass placing a black in high office.

They found as much apathy among the black communities as in the white neighborhoods. Their five-city drive--Washington, D.C., New York, Detroit, Chicago and St. Louis--didn't bring out the marching masses.

So the Black Coalition's fourth convention will hear speeches in practical politics, in voter registration, in group action and in making the black voice louder. They know they'll first have to rattle the labor movement itself before they shake the nation.

Chaffee council names Trost chief

CHAFFEE--Elmer Trost, 25, acting chief of police since mid-January, has been appointed chief of police by the City Council. The action came Monday at the recommendation of the council's police board.

Trost, who joined the Chaffee Police Department in 1973, has had basic police training and holds a bachelor of science degree in business administration. He is now enrolled in the extension division of the University of Missouri for further training.

The council voted unanimously to appoint Trost to the position, which has been vacant since the former chief, Jimmy Dale Coats, resigned on Jan. 14.

Charles Goddard, a member of the police board, submitted his resignation, which was accepted by the council. Goddard cited a lack of time as his reason for resignation. Milton Gehrs was appointed to fill the position.

At the recommendation of Police Judge William Vickery, Debbie Graviett was appointed municipal court clerk.

State unemployment rate up .1 percent

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Unemployment in Missouri rose .1 per cent from February to March, preliminary figures of the state Division of Employment Security released today showed.

The division said the 7.8 per cent jobless rate with 159,700 persons out of work in March was 700 higher than the month before and 67,900 more than in March 1974.

Those increased jobs, however, were offset by a boost in the job force of 14,300 persons.

Carpets

More than something to walk on

With spring cleaning underway or about to begin, you may take a second look at that dingy-looking carpet cleaning cannot brighten.

It may be time to look for new carpeting--a major home investment. And like any investment, it should be done carefully and reflect the homeowner's needs and tastes.

In addition, carpeting offers more than just beauty. Warmth--A pile construction acts as insulation by trapping air in tufts and make a psychological warmth to the room. Quiet--It absorbs noise and provides an acoustical backdrop. Comfort--As a shock absorber, its cushiness gives under-foot comfort. Safety-It can provide surer footing and softer landings for the elderly and toddlers learning to walk.

DECORATING

A primary consideration is how to it blends with the rest of the room. Color, texture and patterns can produce a subdued background or a dramatic accent which becomes a center of interest.

For example, the texture would reflect the room's character and mood. Delicate patterns and more subdued colors create a more formal mood. Carpet texture makes it hard to match it to other colors in the room exactly. It is better to have slight variations in the room's color schemes than to attempt to math the carpet.

SIZES

Wall-to-wall carpeting can be laid over a pad and plyboard rather than expensive flooring. This kind of flooring creates an effect of furnished home with less furniture.

Room-size rugs stop within 12 inches or less of walls in the room. Standard sizes are 9' x 12', 12' x 15' and 12' x 18'. Do not skimp. If it cannot fit the room's shape, consider using an area rug.

Area rugs will vary with furniture arrangement and room size. A larger room may require more than one area rug. They should harmonize but need not be identical. Because of its smaller size, an area rug can add pattern to a room even if it is in a solid color.

QUALITY

Density of pile refers to closeness of tufts. The closer the yarns, the more durable it will be. You should be walking on the tops of tufts, not the sides.

A simple test is to fold the backing sides together and look for a 'grin.'' The yarn should nearly cover it. The exception is shag carpeting with extra long tufts. In this case, the tufts will be down and you will walk on their sides.

Pile depth is less important than the density. Deep pile that is too thin will not wear well. If low pile carpeting is selected, you may need a thicker pad. Deep pile requires a thinner pad to provide softness and stability.

WEAVES

A Wilton weave is available in a wide range of designs, solid colors, textured effects and color combinations. Pile is cut looped and carried in the backing until used for the surface pattern. This carpet costs more because of the extra fiber. If the carpet is damaged, it is possible to pull the unused yarns in backing to the surface to repair it.

Axminister weave allows a detailed multicolored pattern. Woven with a double weft on the back, it features a ribbed effect identified easily because it can be rolled lengthwise, not crosswise.

A velvet weave is a solid color available in cut pile (plush), loop and high low pile, making frieze, a pebbly surface or a striated treatment. Another very expensive weave because of a two-step production, chenille can be woven in any color, pattern, shape or size up to 30 feet.

Tufting is a process where pile yarns are sewn to a cloth backing by a multiple-needled machine. A latex coat on the back helps secure the fibers. It is less expensive than woven construction because of low fiber costs and a plentiful supply.

Knits are solid colors or tone-on-tone with a looped surface because a single pile yarn is used. This weave is hard to find and less expensive.

Flocked carpets are new on the market and have a characteristic single-level cut pile surface, creating a velour appearance.

FIBERS

Fiber characteristics to keep in mind are stiffness, durability and how the tufts retain erectness; abrasion resistence, or wearability; resilence, ability of the fiber to return to its original shape after being crushed important in heavy traffic areas. In adds to the carpets appearance; heat resistence, especially important near a fireplace or if heavy smokers drop sparks on it; and static build-up, receiving a shock after walking across it and touching metal. Many man-made fibers do not absorb moisture and thus build up static.

PADDING

A good quality pad can add about 50 per cent to carpet life. However, a pad should not cost less than 15 per cent of the carpet cost. Carpet pile flattens down less with a cushion, adding to the carpet's appearance.

Padding should not be more than one inch thick and less than three inches from edge of the carpet. The pad for wall-to-wall carpeting should be laid an inch and a half from carpet edges.

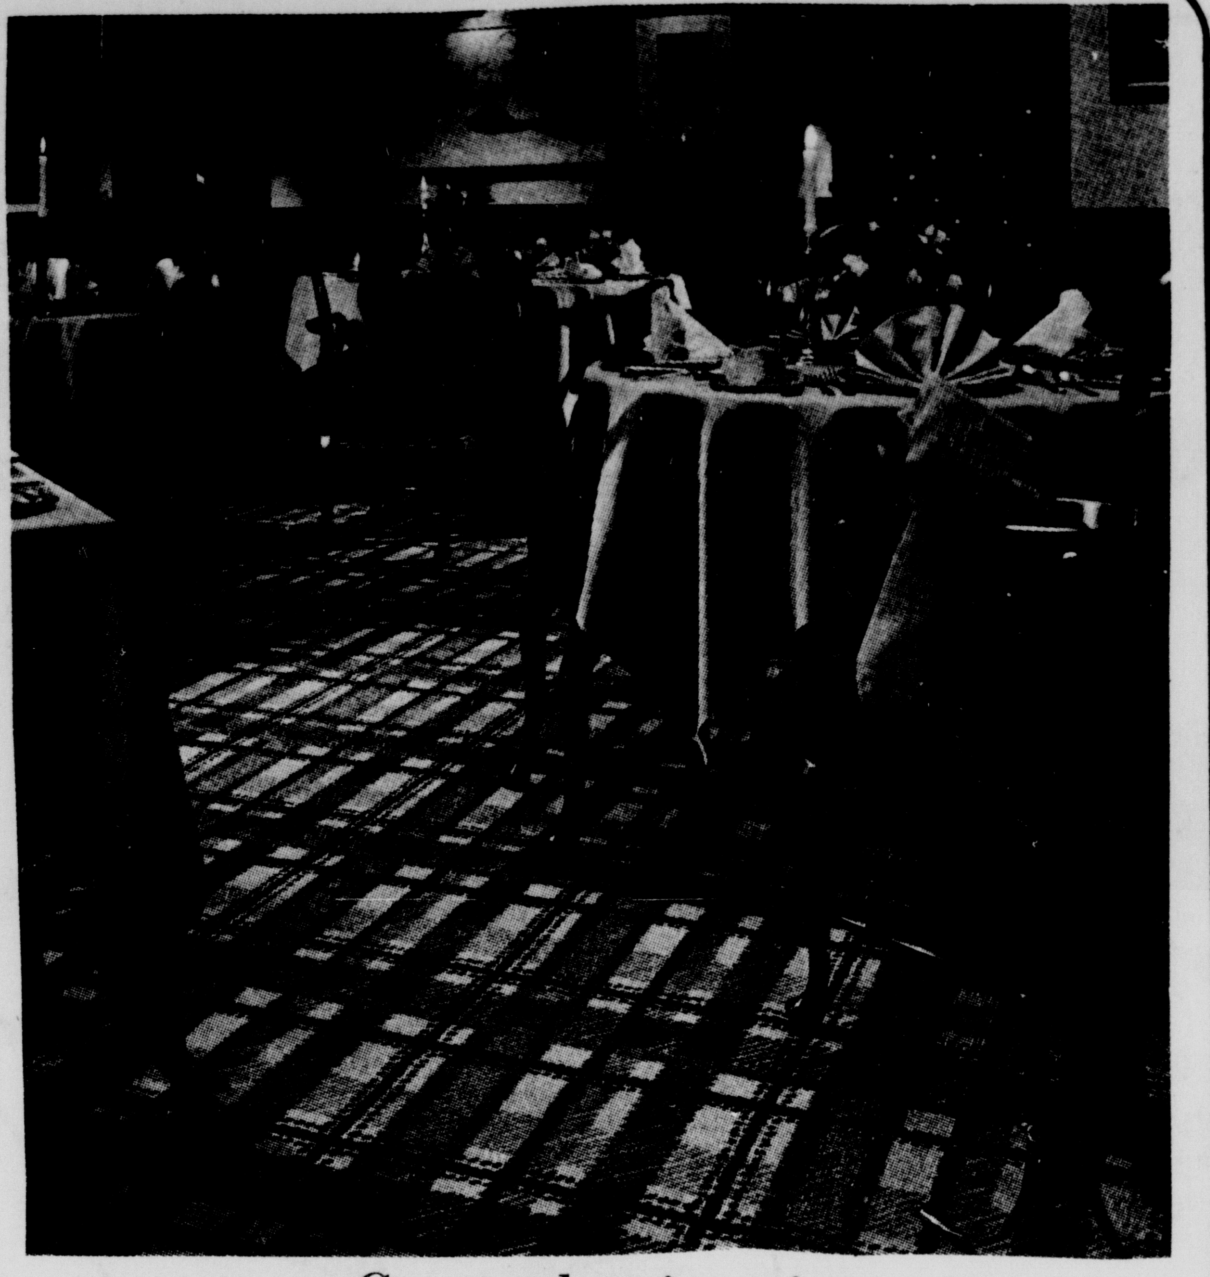
Rubber pads create a feeling of luxury to carpeting and come in two varieties--foam and sponge. Sponge tops everything in softness underfoot but foam gives more uniform support. Since it is porous, it retains less odor.

Slippage or 'walking' off of rugs on rubber pads is solved by using scrim or mesh backing on the rubber.

Foam rubber has an acoustical advantages over other types and both sponge and foam conduct heat more readily on radiant heated floors than hair or jute. Urethane foam pads resist dampness and heat but are less buoyant.

Already attached pads are usually less thinner and less dense than a separate pad. Because of this, they have a shorter life and less resilience. However, they are usually found on cheaper carpeting and will last the life of a carpet. Cleaning is difficult as they tend to hold moisture and will take longer to dry.

Now, shop around and compare prices and especially quality. Remember also to include padding and installation.



Carpet buying tips

When shopping for new carpeting, consider color, texture, and patterns to fit a room's mood and character. Patterns in light and middle tones make a room spacious and airy and will show less soiling. Because of the carpet's texture, its color cannot be matched exactly to the rest of a room's colors.

Parent-child interaction to be discussion topic

A panel discussion on interaction between parents and their pre-school and adolescent children will begin at 7:30 p.m., Thursday in the Lincoln School gymnasium, 229 Westgate St. The discussion is sponsored by the Child Development Center in cooperation with the University of Missouri Extension.

The panel will be Mary Jo Herde, area child and family development specialist, on discipline; Peggy Eshelman, area youth specialist, on communication; and Gloria Dible, Sikeston schools psychologist, on emotional growth. Liz Ferrell, Farmington State Hospital outreach worker, will moderate.

A short film will be shown and a question-and - answer period will follow. Babysitters will be provided.

New Civil War fiction novel now at local library

New books for adults at Sikeston Public Library feature Frank G. Slaughter's new fictional novel "The Stonewall Brigade." It takes in the whole history of the Stonewall Brigade during the War Between the States from the early engagements at Harper's Ferry, through Sharpsburg, Gettysburg, Chancellorsville and the death of Jackson ... right up to the last skirmishes before Appomattox.

We follow the fortunes of David Preston, a young medical officer with the brigade, as he faces firsthand the awesome carnage of war. Through his experience we encounter the famous figures of the time — Abe Lincoln, Robert E. Lee, J. E. B. Stuart and the great Stonewall Jackson himself.

Other fiction includes:

"Loving Sands, Deadly Sands", by Charlotte Keppel; The Dreadful Lemon Sky", by John D. MacDonald; "The Wind Chill Factor", by Thomas Gifford, "The Pride of the Trevallions", by Carola Salisbury; and "The Massacre at Fall Creek", by Jessamyn West.

Non-Fiction: "What Your Child Is All About", by Murray M. Kappelman; "A Time To Die", by Tom Wicker; "The Duchess of Bedford", by Nicole Nobody; "The Best Plays of 1973-1974", by Otis L. Guernsey, editor; "The Prince and the Lily", by James Brough; and "Compassion and Self-Hate", by Theodore Isaac Rubin.

Fashion show to be Thursday

EAST PRAIRIE — "Spring Garden", a fashion show of the latest spring ensembles for young women, will begin at 7:30 p.m., Thursday in the high school auditorium. The show is sponsored by Senior Girl Scout Troop 234.

Members of the troop will model clothes from Paula's, a new store featuring women and junior fashions. Jewelry from "Leo's" also will be featured.

The show will include an assortment of long spring dresses, bright pantsuits and summer short sets.

Supervisers of the show will be Mrs. Charlene Davis, leader of the troop, and Mrs. Murlin Andrews.

Ann Landers

Nursing homes depress daughter

Dear Ann Landers: "Amen" to the reader who signed her letter "A Relative." I go to see my elderly mother at least once a week and after each visit I am depressed. Fortunately I have an understanding husband who goes with me. I could never make it alone.

It's impossible to carry on an intelligent conversation because Mother is deaf. So we sit for what seems like an eternity and listen to her crazy chatter.

She is crippled with arthritis, but otherwise is in excellent health for 88. Mother had a fantastic recovery from a breast removal a few years ago but she still insists "there's a lump."

She is very comfortable in a large, well-run nursing home with excellent care. Many people there are a lot worse off than she is, but she's never satisfied. All she does is complain.

It's so so sad to see those old folks sitting around waiting for the next meal. They have nothing to look forward to. Some of them don't even know what day it is. I sometimes wonder if it's right to keep these people alive. I pray a lot. --Also A Relative

Dear Also: Of course it's "right" to keep them alive. The alternative is murder.

I receive dozens of letters from people who work in nursing homes. They ask me why the relatives of these old folks don't come to visit them. Loneliness is the worst part of it, I'm told. If only the sons, daughters, grandchildren, friends, someone--ANYONE-- would drop in for half an hour, it would make such a difference. Those old folks, as you said, have nothing to do but sit around and wait for the next meal.

Thanks for writing. I have a feeling your letter did more good than you'll ever know.

Dear Ann Landers: Every week the doctors of America come up with something that harmful to your health. If it isn't additives, it's tight garters or smog. Now we are told to stop laughing. A doctor in the East says laughing can be hazardous to your health if it disrups normal breathing. It might even cause a stroke if a person is susceptible.

I always thought laughter was good for the body and the soul. Please check this out, Ann. I'm about To Become A Sourpuss

Dear Puss: The experts say go ahead and laugh--if you can find something to laugh about these days.

Dear Ann Landers: A friend was bragging at our bridge club that her daughter is going to marry a doctor. A few days later I learned he is not a real doctor, but a Ph. D. in education. When I called her on it she said if a person has earned a doctorate, I customary to use the title "Dr."

I inquired of a few professionals. They said the practice is pompous and misleading--that "Dr." should be used only by physicians, and most of Them use M.D. after their names.

Who is correct?--Curious In Arcadia

Dear Arc: Anyone who has earned a doctorate or has been given an honorary degree has the right to call himself "Dr." Most Dr.'s (other than those in scientific fields) do not use it, however, for the reason you stated.

Parents, what should you do if your teenager is having sexual relations? Ann Landers;' new booklet, "High School Sex And How To Deal With It--A Guide For Teens And Their Parents," gives no-nonsense advice on how to handle this delicate situation. For each booklet, send 50 cents in coin plus a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Illinois 60120.

Ann Landers

Nursing homes depress daughter

Dear Ann Landers: "Amen" to the reader who signed her letter "A Relative." I go to see my elderly mother at least once a week and after each visit I am depressed. Fortunately I have an understanding husband who goes with me. I could never make it alone.

It's impossible to carry on an intelligent conversation because Mother is deaf. So we sit for what seems like an eternity and listen to her crazy chatter.

She is crippled with arthritis, but otherwise is in excellent health for 88. Mother had a fantastic recovery from a breast removal a few years ago but she still insists "there's a lump."

She is very comfortable in a large, well-run nursing home with excellent care. Many people there are a lot worse off than she is, but she's never satisfied. All she does is complain.

It's so so sad to see those old folks sitting around waiting for the next meal. They have nothing to look forward to. Some of them don't even know what day it is. I sometimes wonder if it's right to keep these people alive. I pray a lot. --Also A Relative

Dear Also: Of course it's "right" to keep them alive. The alternative is murder.

I receive dozens of letters from people who work in nursing homes. They ask me why the relatives of these old folks don't come to visit them. Loneliness is the worst part of it, I'm told. If only the sons, daughters, grandchildren, friends, someone--ANYONE-- would drop in for half an hour, it would make such a difference. Those old folks, as you said, have nothing to do but sit around and wait for the next meal.

Thanks for writing. I have a feeling your letter did more good than you'll ever know.

Dear Ann Landers: Every week the doctors of America come up with something that harmful to your health. If it isn't additives, it's tight garters or smog. Now we are told to stop laughing. A doctor in the East says laughing can be hazardous to your health if it disrups normal breathing. It might even cause a stroke if a person is susceptible.

I always thought laughter was good for the body and the soul. Please check this out, Ann. I'm about To Become A Sourpuss

Dear Puss: The experts say go ahead and laugh--if you can find something to laugh about these days.

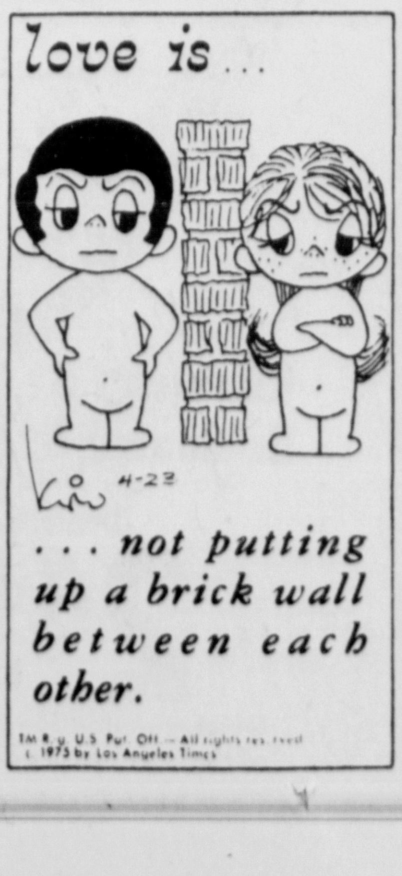
Dear Ann Landers: A friend was bragging at our bridge club that her daughter is going to marry a doctor. A few days later I learned he is not a real doctor, but a Ph. D. in education. When I called her on it she said if a person has earned a doctorate, I customary to use the title "Dr."

I inquired of a few professionals. They said the practice is pompous and misleading--that "Dr." should be used only by physicians, and most of Them use M.D. after their names.

Who is correct?--Curious In Arcadia

Dear Arc: Anyone who has earned a doctorate or has been given an honorary degree has the right to call himself "Dr." Most Dr.'s (other than those in scientific fields) do not use it, however, for the reason you stated.

Parents, what should you do if your teenager is having sexual relations? Ann Landers;' new booklet, "High School Sex And How To Deal With It--A Guide For Teens And Their Parents," gives no-nonsense advice on how to handle this delicate situation. For each booklet, send 50 cents in coin plus a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Illinois 60120.



... not putting up a brick wall between each other.

The BRIDAL BOUTIQUE

Boutique opens

The Bridal Boutique has opened in Malden. The store, owned and operated by Sue Green and Doris Olness of Malden, features a complete line of top fashions in formal wear for women. The Bridal Boutique is located on West Main Street.

Shop features bridal fashions

MALDEN — A preview opening of the new Bridal Boutique store on West Main Street in Malden was held Thursday. The boutique then opened for business Friday and Saturday and is open on a regular basis this week. A grand opening is being planned for a later date.

The new store will feature a complete line of top fashions in formal wear for women. It is owned and will be operated by Sue Green and Doris Olness.

Problems discussed

Ray Roper of Columbia, left, executive vice president of the Missouri Boardof Realtors, talks with Sikeston realtor president, E. Paul Jackson about some of the problems facing realtors in general. Roper was guest speaker April 15 at the Travelodge for a meeting of the Sikeston board. The program consisted of methods to make people more aware of the advantages of buying real estate.

Coloring contest winners

Operating results announced

NASHVILLE, Tenn. — Kuhn's-Big K Stores Corp. has reported operating results for the first quarter of 1975, with sales up 8.5 per cent over the corresponding period a year ago.

Jack W. Kuhn, president of the seven-state regional retail chain, announced the operating results at the company's annual stockholders' meeting. He said sales for the three months ending March 31, 1975 amounted to $27,388,215, compared with $25,238,967 for the same period in 1974.

For the first quarter, Kuhn said the company experienced an "anticipated" deficit amounting to $581,000, or 36 cents per share, compared with a net loss of $496,000, or 31 cents per share, for the same three months a year ago.

In commenting to stockholders, Kuhn pointed out that the company normally operates at a "loss for the first quarter, then moves toward a position of profitability during the second and third quartrs, with nearly 40 per cent of sales and 70 per cent of earnings generated in the fourth quarter."

The Kuhn's-Big K Stores Corp. chief executive said that the company's management "is dedicating itself in 1975 to the improvement in productivity in terms of sales per square foot of the stores opened in 1973 and 1974. If we are successful in building sales in these stores this year," he pointed out, "then this should have a positive impact on our 1975 earnings."

Carl Goldstein, treasurer of the company, reported to stockholders on Kuhnn's-Big K 1975 expansion plans, which will include three new Big K stores, in addition to the one opened in the first quarter in Tuscaloosa, Ala. He said the company plans to open two Big K outlets in Huntsville, Ala., and one in Frankfort, Ky.

Suzanne Clare Gross

Former area woman named to bank post

Herbert E. Littlefield, president of Southern Illinois National Bank, Fairview Heights, Ill., has announced the appointment of Mrs. Suzanne Clare Gross as director of public relations and marketing.

She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Frank (Bill) Clares of Trenton, Ill., where Clare is Superintendent of Schools. The Clares were formerly from the Sikeston area.

Mrs. Gross, an Illinois State Scholar, attended SIU Edwardsville and McKendree College and leaves the post of advertising manager with Yelvington Publications of Mascautah and Fairview Heights. She lives near Fairview Heights with her husband, Stan, a professional musician-composer.

Southern Illinois National Bank, now in its 105th year is the oldest bank in Southern Illinois A recent grand opening celebrated occupancy of its new modern facility in Fairview Heights.

St. Francis official submits resignation

CAPE GIRARDEAU--John W. Byrne, assistant administrator of St. Francis Hospital for nine years, has resigned.

Byrne's resignation, which was presented last week will be effective Thursday, according to John J. Keusenkothen a hospital official. Keusenkothen said Byrne is taking a job elsewhere, but details were unknown. Byrne declined to comment.

Byrne assumed the role of assistant administrator at St. Francis in April 1966. He was formerly employed for approximately 18 years by Phillips Petroleum Co., in various supervisory capacities.

Kent to be featured at Bootheel Jamboree

BERNIE — Country music singer George Kent of Nashville, Tenn., will be the featured entertainer Saturday night at the Bootheel Jamboree.

A native of Dallas, Tex., Kent began pursuing a musical career at an early age and combined that career with a five-year stint on the Dallas police force.

He became a regular member of the Big D Jamboree in Dallas, where he remained for a number of years. During that time he made numerous guest appearances on the Louisiana Hayride at Shreveport, La., and was the second person to perform as a special guest on the Grand Ole Opry without a recording contract.

Since 1964, Kent has worked extensively throughout the United States and Canada.

In addition to his smash chart topper, "Hello I'm a Jukebox," other songs recorded by Kent include "Mama Bake a Pie", "Take My Life and Shape it With Your Love", "Sunshine Light", and "Whole Lotta Difference in Love." His latest album, "George Kent", has also been successful.

Local agent graduates from training course

Blair Moran, an agent for Mid-Delta Agency Inc., 315 N. New Madrid St., has graduated from the pension school conducted April 14-16 by Kansas City Life Insurance Co. at its home office in Kansas City.

The intensive training course instructs agents in the formula and design of pension and profit-sharing plans. Participants also studied in depth the rules and regulations of the 1974 Pension Reform Act, including the new individual retirement accounts.

Moran joined Mid-Delta in June 1974. A native of Cairo, Ill., he received his primary and secondary education in Charleston and earned a bachelor's degree at Southeast Missouri State University at Cape Girardeau. A decorated combat veteran, he served in Vietnam.

Moran, his wife Sharon and their daughter live at 728 Park Ave.

Ark-Mo stockholders meet, elect directors

BLYTHEVILLE, Ark. — Arkansas - Missouri Power Company's annual stockholders' meeting was held at the company's general office at Blytheville on Thursday.

The following directors were re-elected at the meeting: Kendall Berry of Blytheville, president of Merchants & Planters Bank at Hornersville, Mo.; Edmund S. Cummings Jr. of Chicago, an attorney; August L. Griesedieck of St. Louis, an attorney; Hal E. Hunter of New Madrid, Mo., an attorney; Floyd W. Lewis of New Orleans, president of Middle South Utilities, Inc.; George K. Reeves of Caruthersville, Mo., an attorney; Frank G. Smith Jr. of Blytheville, president of Ark-Mo; and Gus B. Walton Jr. of Little Rock, an attorney.

The directors approved a 1975 construction budget of $7,137,000.

Following the stockholders meeting, the directors met to elect officers. The following men were re-elected: Smith, president and chief executive officer; Charles R. Newcomb, vice president and secretary; John H. Germain, vice president, gas operations; L. T. McSpadden, vice president, legal and personnel; John C. Watson, vice president, consumer affairs and development; Ernest McKenzie, treasurer and assistant secretary; and E. E. Brown, assistant treasurer.

All of the officers are from Blytheville.

Record earnings forecast

KANSAS CITY — Record earnings for first quarter 1975 were forecast for Interstate Brands Corp. during the company's annual meeting by B. J. Hinkle, president and chief executive officer.

"Highest sales and earnings in the history of the company'' are first-quarter results anticipated by the president of the nationwide baking company, third largest in the industry — (and parent firm of Hart's Bakery in Sikeston).

Sales for the 16-week period ending last Saturday were expected to exceed $130 million. This compares with sales of $111.5 million for the same quarter of 1974.

"Income for the first quarter of 1975 should reach approximately $1.25 million, or about 53 cents per common share," Hinkle said. This compares with earnings of $452,564, or 19 cents per common share, one year ago.

Hinkle attributed the increases in sales and earnings to several factors: more efficient production operations and more effective marketing, a lowering of ingredient costs from the extreme highs of 1974 and the increasing trend toward greater per capita consumption of bread products, especially variety breads.

"New products developed by IBC like the recently introduced Stars 'N' Stripes cupcakes and Buckwheat Bread are also helping to trigger added interest in our products," he concluded.

Dutton Brookfield, L. Evert Landon and Willis C. Theis were re-elected to three-year terms on IBC's board of directors at the annual meeting of shareholders.

Brookfield is president of Unitog Co. in Kansas City, Landon is the retired former chairman of Nalley's Fine Foods, a division of W. R. Grace & Co. of Tacoma, Wash., and Theis is president of Simonds-Shields- Theis Grain Co. in Kansas City.

Others who continue as IBC directors include: Ernest B. Hueter, chairman of the board of IBC; B. J. Hinkle, president of IBC; Jack G. Willcuts, senior vice president of IBC; Fred R. Raach, president of Fred R. Raach Associates, Inc., New York City; A. Eugene Grossmann, Jr., partner, Stinson, Mag, Thomson, McEvers & Fizzell, Kansas City; and Hulsey S. Lokey, chairman of the board, Host International, Inc., Santa Monica, Calif.

CIRCUIT COURT

CHARLESTON — Gary Dowdy of East Prairie pleaded guilty Monday to a reduced charge of receiving stolen property valued under $50. The original charge was burglary and stealing.

Judge Marshall Craig stayed a one-year jail sentence and placed Dowdy on probation one year on condition he obey the law, pay court costs and enter a parole bond of $100.

Dowdy pleaded guilty to buying and receiving two cartons of cigarettes, valued at $7, which were stolen Jan. 1 from Ditto's Shell Service Station in East Prairie.

Tom Cornehlsen, two counts of illegal sale of controlled substance on change of venue from Cape Girardeau County, entered voluntary plea of guilty. Question of punishment taken under advisement and Cornehlsen was ordered to report back to court on June 2.

Punishment for Bradford Keith Sandage of Wyatt on a chrge of burglary and stealing, taken under advisement and parole investigation ordered. Sandage, charged with a Jan. 6 break-in and theft of meat from Raffety's Store in Wyatt, is to report back to court on May 21.

Freddie Eugene Tubbs, John Wayne Tatum and Charles O. Fitzgerald, withdrew not guilty pleas and pleaded guilty to a stealing charge stemming from the theft of a .30-caliber carbine rifle valued at $75 and owned by Wallace Reeves of the Bird's Point community. Punishment for the three was taken under advisement and the cases referred to a parole officer for a presentencing investigation. All three were ordered to report back to court May 21.

MAGISTRATE COURT

NEW MADRID — William Wayne Lesley of St. Louis was ordered to stand trial in Circuit Court on breaking and entering charges following a preliminary hearing before Judge John R. Bailey. Bail of $200 was also ordered continued in force.

Lesley is charged with breaking into the dwelling of Edith Howard on April 6 by prying open a door with intent to do bodily harm.

Misdemeanor cases

A motion to set aside judgment was denied Jack Douglas Smith, who had been fined $115 after pleading guilty March 4 to driving while intoxicated.

Randy Donald Williams, driving while license is revoked, $65 fine, given until April 25 to make payment.

Sylvester Dorsey, operating a motor vehicle without an operator's license and defective brakes, fine and costs totaling $35 stayed and 30-day county jail sentence suspended on condition Dorsey not violate any driving or motor vehicle laws during a 30-day period.

'There is only a fine line between young skin and old. This airified makeup fills in the lines superbly.'

Charles Revson

'Ultima' II Cremefoam Makeup

The lightest, spreadiest, most blendable of makeups in an elegant aerosol flacon. A touch of the finger turns loose a fluffy little cloud of it. Just enough to float evenly over your face for a poreless finish, a soft young sheen. You may wonder how such a featherweight can cover all flaws. The answer is: fabulously. 8 shades from dresden-y pales to glowing bronze.

CIRCUIT COURT

CHARLESTON — Gary Dowdy of East Prairie pleaded guilty Monday to a reduced charge of receiving stolen property valued under $50. The original charge was burglary and stealing.

Judge Marshall Craig stayed a one-year jail sentence and placed Dowdy on probation one year on condition he obey the law, pay court costs and enter a parole bond of $100.

Dowdy pleaded guilty to buying and receiving two cartons of cigarettes, valued at $7, which were stolen Jan. 1 from Ditto's Shell Service Station in East Prairie.

Tom Cornehlsen, two counts of illegal sale of controlled substance on change of venue from Cape Girardeau County, entered voluntary plea of guilty. Question of punishment taken under advisement and Cornehlsen was ordered to report back to court on June 2.

Punishment for Bradford Keith Sandage of Wyatt on a chrge of burglary and stealing, taken under advisement and parole investigation ordered. Sandage, charged with a Jan. 6 break-in and theft of meat from Raffety's Store in Wyatt, is to report back to court on May 21.

Freddie Eugene Tubbs, John Wayne Tatum and Charles O. Fitzgerald, withdrew not guilty pleas and pleaded guilty to a stealing charge stemming from the theft of a .30-caliber carbine rifle valued at $75 and owned by Wallace Reeves of the Bird's Point community. Punishment for the three was taken under advisement and the cases referred to a parole officer for a presentencing investigation. All three were ordered to report back to court May 21.

MAGISTRATE COURT

NEW MADRID — William Wayne Lesley of St. Louis was ordered to stand trial in Circuit Court on breaking and entering charges following a preliminary hearing before Judge John R. Bailey. Bail of $200 was also ordered continued in force.

Lesley is charged with breaking into the dwelling of Edith Howard on April 6 by prying open a door with intent to do bodily harm.

Misdemeanor cases

A motion to set aside judgment was denied Jack Douglas Smith, who had been fined $115 after pleading guilty March 4 to driving while intoxicated.

Randy Donald Williams, driving while license is revoked, $65 fine, given until April 25 to make payment.

Sylvester Dorsey, operating a motor vehicle without an operator's license and defective brakes, fine and costs totaling $35 stayed and 30-day county jail sentence suspended on condition Dorsey not violate any driving or motor vehicle laws during a 30-day period.

Robert Lynn Henry, expired registration, fined $20; Robert D. Hardin, improper registration, fined $25; Monroe Scott Jr., permitting unauthorized person to drive and illegal possession of plates, fined $35; Ray Karr, public intoxication, fined $20; Robert Edward Goodrich, expired truck license, fined $20; and James Odell Bishop, careless and imprudent driving, $10 fine, stayed upon payment of costs.

Speeding fines

Eddie Henry Smith, $35; Gordon Andrew Johnson and Heivan Jones, $34 each; Anthony D. Auzenne Jr., Terry Thigpen, Henry James Tittle and LeRoy Braggs J., $32 each; Sylvester Robinson and Purvis L. Morris, $31 each.

Leonard Lee Hall, Mark Hunter Hendricks, Cheryl A. Marshall and Tommie Donald, $30 each; Joyce Ann Treuel, $28; Emma Sue Hampton, $26; Roger Dale Ervin, $25; Melanie Ruth Clark and Dorothy Walker, $20 each; and Le Roy Reed, $25, stayed.

wounded by robbers in 1973.

Symington is also a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, the Aeronautical and Space Sciences Committee, and the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy.

The 23-year veteran first won Senate election in 1952, defeating then Atty. Gen. J. E. Taylor, who was endorsed by President Harry S. Truman, in the primary, then overwhelming the Republican incumbent, Sen. James Kem, by 150,000 votes.

Symington easily won re-election in 1958 and 1964, but his margin dropped to only 37,000 over Danforth in 1970 when his age was an issue.

Known as "Mr. Air Force" or the "Big Bomber Man" in the 1950s and the "Missile Man" in the 1960s, Symington preached against complacency and unrealistic optimism in the arms race against Russia and other powers.

Although he began his career as a "superhawk," 30 years later he found himself a dove, claiming that "that neither Vietnam nor Cambodia is essential to the security of the United States.

Symington was a "favorite son" candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1956 and 1960, and campaigned actively during the latter race before losing to John F. Kennedy.

Symington clashed early in his career with Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R-Wis., who labeled him "Sanctimonious Stu." Symington then suggested McCarthy "better go to a psychiatrist."

Symington, although a native of Maryland, also maintained strong favor at home, principally through his efforts for federal dams and projects like the Jefferson National Expansion Memorial in St. Louis, which includes the Gateway Arch. He was also partially responsible for returning major league baseball to Kansas City in 1969 after the Athletics moved to Oakland, Calif.

BICENTENNIAL FACTS

The British West Indian islands did not ally themselves politically with the 13 colonies, although sympathetic gestures of supplies and arms for the Revolution were offered. The islands were much more vulnerable to police action by the Royal Navy than were the colonies. The World Almanac notes that, by the same token, the islands were more vulnerable to attack by the navies of hostile nations and were more dependent upon the mother country for protection.

Clues sought in slaying of former Bluff woman

MAPLEWOOD — Major case squad officers are seeking clues into the murder of Gwynne L. Aarant, 30, a former Poplar Bluff woman whose body was found around noon Monday in her second floor apartment.

Police discovered Miss Aarant face down with a nylon stocking tied around her neck. She had been stabbed seven times and was nude from the waist down. Police could find no immediate indication, however, that she had been sexually molested.

Miss Aarant's body was discovered by her work supervisor after she failed to report to work Monday. She had been employed as a secretary for Dunn and Bradstreet Inc., in St. Louis since 1963. She was last seen Friday.

Miss Aarant was a niece of Mrs. James Carney Sr., Mrs. George Putnam, Whitey Adkins and Herb and Harald Aarant, all of Dexter.

Born in Poplar Bluff Feb. 17, 1945, she attended Poplar Bluff schools until moving to Hillsboro, where she attended Hillsboro High School and Jefferson County Junior College.

Mrs. Carney told The Daily Standard today that her niece was a tiny blonde who was friendly and outgoing. She described her as "a typical AllAmerican girl." She said Miss Aarant was single and lived alone in a one-bedroom apartment.

Miss Aarant is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hoy Aarant, and two brothers, Terry and Jackie Aarant, all of DeSoto.

Services are scheduled at 2 p.m. Thursday in DeSoto, and burial will follow in a DeSoto cemetery.

Kennett auto fire blamed on matches

KENNETT, Mo. (AP) — Children playing with matches have tentatively been blamed for an automobile fire that claimed the life of a baby girl.

Three-month-old Tammy Jackson, died late Monday as the result of a blaze that broke out in the parked car while her mother, Mary Ann Jackson, 21, of Senath, and her grandmother shopped at a supermarket.

Three other small children were rescued from the burning vehicle by two passersby, police said.

Treated for burns at the University of Missouri Medical Center in Columbia were Ricky Hamlett, 4, the infant's half-brother, and Theresa Jackson, 2, and Patti Jackson, 3, her cousins.

The baby's mother was treated for shock at Dunklin County Hospital.

Further investigation was scheduled, but state fire marshal authorities theorized that the fire resulted from one of the children's playing with matches.

President-elect of state bar dies at 48

ST. LOUIS (AP) — William J. Tate, 48, president-elect of the Missouri Bar Association, died here Tuesday after becoming ill during lunch at the St. Louis Lawyers Club.

Tate, a member of the law firm of Husch, Eppenberger, Donohue, Elson and Cornfeld, was elected president of the state bar association last year and was scheduled to take office in September.

A resident of Webster Groves, he celebrated his birthday Monday.

Tate is survived by his wife, Jean, three daughters and a son. Funeral arrangements are pending.

Woman hurt in accident

PILOT KNOB — Dorothy J. Randolph, 24, of Graniteville, was seriously injured in traffic accident at 6:30 a.m. today three miles north of town on Highway 21.

The accident occurred when the Randolph woman was unable to stop her southbound car at a stop sign due to wet pavement and the vehicle ran across the road and struck a highway barricade.

She was taken to St. Mary's Hospital in Ironton.

Country mayors to meet today

Clues sought in slaying of former Bluff woman

MAPLEWOOD — Major case squad officers are seeking clues into the murder of Gwynne L. Aarant, 30, a former Poplar Bluff woman whose body was found around noon Monday in her second floor apartment.

Police discovered Miss Aarant face down with a nylon stocking tied around her neck. She had been stabbed seven times and was nude from the waist down. Police could find no immediate indication, however, that she had been sexually molested.

Miss Aarant's body was discovered by her work supervisor after she failed to report to work Monday. She had been employed as a secretary for Dunn and Bradstreet Inc., in St. Louis since 1963. She was last seen Friday.

Miss Aarant was a niece of Mrs. James Carney Sr., Mrs. George Putnam, Whitey Adkins and Herb and Harald Aarant, all of Dexter.

Born in Poplar Bluff Feb. 17, 1945, she attended Poplar Bluff schools until moving to Hillsboro, where she attended Hillsboro High School and Jefferson County Junior College.

Mrs. Carney told The Daily Standard today that her niece was a tiny blonde who was friendly and outgoing. She described her as "a typical AllAmerican girl." She said Miss Aarant was single and lived alone in a one-bedroom apartment.

Miss Aarant is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hoy Aarant, and two brothers, Terry and Jackie Aarant, all of DeSoto.

Services are scheduled at 2 p.m. Thursday in DeSoto, and burial will follow in a DeSoto cemetery.

Kennett auto fire blamed on matches

KENNETT, Mo. (AP) — Children playing with matches have tentatively been blamed for an automobile fire that claimed the life of a baby girl.

Three-month-old Tammy Jackson, died late Monday as the result of a blaze that broke out in the parked car while her mother, Mary Ann Jackson, 21, of Senath, and her grandmother shopped at a supermarket.

Three other small children were rescued from the burning vehicle by two passersby, police said.

Treated for burns at the University of Missouri Medical Center in Columbia were Ricky Hamlett, 4, the infant's half-brother, and Theresa Jackson, 2, and Patti Jackson, 3, her cousins.

The baby's mother was treated for shock at Dunklin County Hospital.

Further investigation was scheduled, but state fire marshal authorities theorized that the fire resulted from one of the children's playing with matches.

President-elect of state bar dies at 48

ST. LOUIS (AP) — William J. Tate, 48, president-elect of the Missouri Bar Association, died here Tuesday after becoming ill during lunch at the St. Louis Lawyers Club.

Tate, a member of the law firm of Husch, Eppenberger, Donohue, Elson and Cornfeld, was elected president of the state bar association last year and was scheduled to take office in September.

A resident of Webster Groves, he celebrated his birthday Monday.

Tate is survived by his wife, Jean, three daughters and a son. Funeral arrangements are pending.

Woman hurt in accident

PILOT KNOB — Dorothy J. Randolph, 24, of Graniteville, was seriously injured in traffic accident at 6:30 a.m. today three miles north of town on Highway 21.

The accident occurred when the Randolph woman was unable to stop her southbound car at a stop sign due to wet pavement and the vehicle ran across the road and struck a highway barricade.

She was taken to St. Mary's Hospital in Ironton.

CAPE GIRARDEAU--Southeast Missouri State University's baseball Indians will be stepping out this week and next--out of MIAA competition, that is-- for seven games against non-conference opponents.

The Indians of Coach Joe Uhls, 3-5 in the MIAA after a Saturday split with Northeast Missouri State University in Kirksville, may welcome the change.

You see, they are 9-0 against non-league foes this spring.

The series of games against non-conference opposition began Tuesday when Uhsl' crew traveled to St. Louis for a game with Washington University.

The Tribe will square off against Northeastern Illinois in a 1 p.m. twinbill today. On Saturday (April 26) St. Louis University will play a pair against the Indians, also at 1 p.m. All games are scheduled at Capaha Park.

Indiana State University--Evansville will provide the opposition for Southeast Missouri State on April 29 in Evansville, and the two games, beginning at 1 p.m., will conclude the Indians' season against outside teams.

The Tribe will wind up the spring by hosting Lincoln University May 2-3 for a three-game series and journeying to Maryville for a three-game series with Northwest Missouri State University May 9-10.

The Indians' series last weekend against Northeast Missouri State was supposed to get under way on Friday, but the single game was washed out. The Tribe won the opener foof Saturday's twinbill in extra innings on Illmo junior Mark Amick's homer with two men on. The final was 6-3. The Indians' dropped the nightcap, 4-2.

In that contest the Bulldogs took a 2-0 lead in the econd, but the Indians knotted the score in their half of the gird. Northeast Missouri State went ahead for good with two in the sixth.

Southeast Missouri State, which is batting .265 as a team, is paced by junior catcher Skip Morgan of St. Louis, who has a .327 average. Junior first baseman Tony Korando of Murphysboro, Ill., is second with an even .300 average, and he is also leading the team in triples, home runs, and runs batted in.

The Indians' top pitcher among those who have seen action lately is senior Tim Smith of Poplar Bluff, wo who has a 2-1 record. He leads the mound corps in strikeouts with 24 and has a 2.11 earned run average.

PANTHERS ROMP

The Lilbourn Panthers trounced over the Clarkton Reindeer Tuesday afternoon by the score of 10-0. Rodman, the winning pitcher, allowed only one hit in the game which came in the seventh inning while fanning eleven and walking only three batters. Lilbourn racked up the most runs in the seventh inning when they made four while making two in the first, three in the third, and one in the sixth. The leading players for Lilbourn were Sam Taylor who scored two runs, and Ron Baker who scored three runs plus a homerun, his fifth of the season. The one hit for the Reindeer was made by Morgan. The win puts Lilbourn's record at 6-1 for the season while losing only to Sikeston and Clarkton sports a 5-1 record losing only to Lilbourn.

EAGLES WIN

The East Prairie Eagles claimed a close victory over the Charleston Bluejays Tuesday afternoon, 5-4.

Moore, the winning pitcher, pitched a shutout in the first five innings and fanned three batters. Quertermous, the losing pitcher, fanned five players.

East Prairie packed its scoring into the fourth and fifth innings with two in the fourth and three in the fifth. In the fourth inning, Davenport smashed a single and then scored the run on an error. In the fifth inning, the scoring was accomplished by a single off of Thurman, a walk on McCutcheon, plus a single by Davenport, and then Wheatley belted a double to drive in the runs. For Charleston, all their scoring was stacked in the sixth inning when they made four runs. For their scoring, Johnson claimed a walk, McMurray belted a double, Bailey got a walk, Schott and Hatchell walked, then Mix drove a single to knock in the runs.

The outstanding leaders for East Prairie proved to be Davenport who made two runs and Mars who smashed a homerun. For Charleston, the run makers were Schott, Johnson, McMurray, and Bailey all with one apiece.

BERNIE WINS PAIR

Bernie took a double header from Woodland Tuesday afternoon winning the first game 1-0 and the second game 3-2 but having to play twelve innings to accomplish that feat. In the first game, both the pitchers pitched no hitters. Stever, the winning pitcher, fanned five and walked only two while Shrum struck out two and walked just one batter. The only run of the game came in the second inning, when the first baseman committed an error, Bernie got a walk, then Pointer stole third base and scored the run on an error.

In the second game, Stever pitched two innings while fanning two and givng up two runs. Walker then pitched the third to the eleventh inning thus pitching nine scoreless innings and fanning eleven batters. Carson took over for Walker in the twelfth and walked one man. For Woodland, Shrum pitched six innings fanning two and then Jordan took over to fan five and walk one. Lincoln took control of the mound in the eleventh and fanned three and walked three. Woodland started out the contest by taking a 2-0 lead in the first inning. The scoring came when Martin got a walk, then a single off of Wesbecher, then followed by a two run homerun by Jordan. Bernie got its scoring in the second inning with two runs and one in the twelfth. The scoring came in the second inning by a single off of Smothers and then Pointer, Fears tapped a sacrifice bunt, followed by Eads with a flyout, and then Carson singled and got 2 runs batted in. The one run in the twelfth came when Carson got a walk, then an error was committed on first base with Beechum on, Ward got on first and moved Carson to third, Ward then proceeded to steal second base, followed by a strikeout by Walker, and then Stever smashed a single to drive in the winning run. The outstanding leaders for Bernie were Beechum with one run, Smothers with one, and Ponter with one. The leading men for Woodland were Martin with one run and Jordan also with one.

In double header action Bell City took home victories in both with a 4-2 win over Puxico in the first game and 8-6 in the second. In the first game, the winning pitcher, Niemcyzk struck out one while walking three. Martin the losing pitcher, fanned four and walked only two. Bell City packed its runs into the first and fourth innings with two in each. For Puxico, their scoring occurred in the first and fifth innings with one in each. The outstanding leaders for Bell City were Rivers who made a double and a single and scored a run. Kinder also smashed a double along with Hart who had two singles and scored one run. Calhoun belted a double and teammates Niemczyk and Surface scored the other runs. For Puxiico, Pierce had a fantastic showing with a double and a single while Pogue scored the only two runs for the team.

In the second game, Bell City racked up its scoring in the first and fourth innings with four in each. For Puxico, they packed the most runs into the fifth inning with three, plus one in the first, one in the second, and one in the third. Surface, the winning pitcher, fanned one and walked four while Lee fanned two and walked five. The outstanding players for Bell City were Cox with a triple and two singles. Rivers did his part by scoring two runs along with Niemczyk with one, Rendelman with one, Cox with one, Kinder with one, Surface with one, and Calhoun with one. For Puxico, Phillips was an outstanding leader with a double and the scoring of one run. Daughterty also smashed a double along with Martin who knocked three singles. C. Martin joined in the endeavor with the scoring of two runs, R. Martin with one, and Payton also with two.

Mizzou grid talent on display Saturday

COLUMBIA, Mo.--As has been his custom, Tiger coach Al Onofrio aranged an even-steven split of his football talent for Saturday's climactic Black and Gold game on Faurot Field. Kickoff is at 1:30 p.m.

Onofrio's aides also will be apportioned to each squad on a selective basis. The head coach himself will view the action from a press-box booth, where he can communicate with both benches.

This preview of Onofrio's fifth Mizzou team will pit Steve Pisarkiewicz, 1974's regular quarterback, against freshman Pete Woods at the outset. Woods will be directing a more veteran-laden Gold cast--including co-captain Tony Galbreath, tailback; Joe Stewart, slotback; and Annise Davis, fullback.

Pisarkiewicz' backfield cohorts will be Curt Brown, tailback; Rich Lain, slotback; and John Blakeman, fullback.

Saturday's crowd won't see at least three injured running backs display their skills in this spring finale. Out with injuries are tail backs Jornel Williams and Dean Leibson, and fullback Tom McBride. Questionable, too, is Davis (listed as a Gold starter) because of a persistent back problem.

What type of game is in prospect(? Onofrio won't hazard a guess. For one thing, the defenses will play it straight--no stunting--and moreover, the Tigers are not likely to reveal anything that would be enlightening to four Alabama observers in the press box.

"I've been impressed with the hitting and attitude shown this spring," says Onofrio. "I have to say, too, that I am very pleased with the progress of both the offense and defense."

Mizzou fans will note that two ex-noseguards line up as defensive tackles in the springtime alignment--junior Tom Cooper and sophomore Randy Frisch.

Comforting to Onofrio also has been the emergence of redshirt sophomores Keith Morrissey and Don Cole at the same positions. This relieves some of the anxiety caused by the loss of four veteran tackles.

Also at linebacker spots, Tom Hodge and Bill Culp have moved up as replacements for Scott Pickens and Lynn Evans--and two newcomers are showing promise as well. They are freshman Pete Allard and junior college transfer Tim Helm.

Onofrio plans to lengthen at least one quarter Saturday.

"We'll probably add five minutes to one quarter, in order to give more players exposure," he points out. "In that way, we'll get a better look at the second unit players."

Outstanding player awards will go to two players on both the offensive and defensive teams. These plaques annually are sponsored and presented by the Columbia Quarterack Club.

Along with Jornel Williams, McBride and Leibson, other prominent Tigers who will be sidelined with injuries Saturday include: Co-captain Bob McRoberts, Dale Smith and Dave Legg, defensive ends; linebacker Mark Kirkpatrick; cornerback Brad Brown; center Randy Wepler; and offensive guard Kurt Wolfenberger.

CAPE GIRARDEAU--Southeast Missouri State University's baseball Indians will be stepping out this week and next--out of MIAA competition, that is-- for seven games against non-conference opponents.

The Indians of Coach Joe Uhls, 3-5 in the MIAA after a Saturday split with Northeast Missouri State University in Kirksville, may welcome the change.

You see, they are 9-0 against non-league foes this spring.

The series of games against non-conference opposition began Tuesday when Uhsl' crew traveled to St. Louis for a game with Washington University.

The Tribe will square off against Northeastern Illinois in a 1 p.m. twinbill today. On Saturday (April 26) St. Louis University will play a pair against the Indians, also at 1 p.m. All games are scheduled at Capaha Park.

Indiana State University--Evansville will provide the opposition for Southeast Missouri State on April 29 in Evansville, and the two games, beginning at 1 p.m., will conclude the Indians' season against outside teams.

The Tribe will wind up the spring by hosting Lincoln University May 2-3 for a three-game series and journeying to Maryville for a three-game series with Northwest Missouri State University May 9-10.

The Indians' series last weekend against Northeast Missouri State was supposed to get under way on Friday, but the single game was washed out. The Tribe won the opener foof Saturday's twinbill in extra innings on Illmo junior Mark Amick's homer with two men on. The final was 6-3. The Indians' dropped the nightcap, 4-2.

In that contest the Bulldogs took a 2-0 lead in the econd, but the Indians knotted the score in their half of the gird. Northeast Missouri State went ahead for good with two in the sixth.

Southeast Missouri State, which is batting .265 as a team, is paced by junior catcher Skip Morgan of St. Louis, who has a .327 average. Junior first baseman Tony Korando of Murphysboro, Ill., is second with an even .300 average, and he is also leading the team in triples, home runs, and runs batted in.

The Indians' top pitcher among those who have seen action lately is senior Tim Smith of Poplar Bluff, wo who has a 2-1 record. He leads the mound corps in strikeouts with 24 and has a 2.11 earned run average.

PANTHERS ROMP

The Lilbourn Panthers trounced over the Clarkton Reindeer Tuesday afternoon by the score of 10-0. Rodman, the winning pitcher, allowed only one hit in the game which came in the seventh inning while fanning eleven and walking only three batters. Lilbourn racked up the most runs in the seventh inning when they made four while making two in the first, three in the third, and one in the sixth. The leading players for Lilbourn were Sam Taylor who scored two runs, and Ron Baker who scored three runs plus a homerun, his fifth of the season. The one hit for the Reindeer was made by Morgan. The win puts Lilbourn's record at 6-1 for the season while losing only to Sikeston and Clarkton sports a 5-1 record losing only to Lilbourn.

EAGLES WIN

The East Prairie Eagles claimed a close victory over the Charleston Bluejays Tuesday afternoon, 5-4.

Moore, the winning pitcher, pitched a shutout in the first five innings and fanned three batters. Quertermous, the losing pitcher, fanned five players.

East Prairie packed its scoring into the fourth and fifth innings with two in the fourth and three in the fifth. In the fourth inning, Davenport smashed a single and then scored the run on an error. In the fifth inning, the scoring was accomplished by a single off of Thurman, a walk on McCutcheon, plus a single by Davenport, and then Wheatley belted a double to drive in the runs. For Charleston, all their scoring was stacked in the sixth inning when they made four runs. For their scoring, Johnson claimed a walk, McMurray belted a double, Bailey got a walk, Schott and Hatchell walked, then Mix drove a single to knock in the runs.

The outstanding leaders for East Prairie proved to be Davenport who made two runs and Mars who smashed a homerun. For Charleston, the run makers were Schott, Johnson, McMurray, and Bailey all with one apiece.

BERNIE WINS PAIR

Bernie took a double header from Woodland Tuesday afternoon winning the first game 1-0 and the second game 3-2 but having to play twelve innings to accomplish that feat. In the first game, both the pitchers pitched no hitters. Stever, the winning pitcher, fanned five and walked only two while Shrum struck out two and walked just one batter. The only run of the game came in the second inning, when the first baseman committed an error, Bernie got a walk, then Pointer stole third base and scored the run on an error.

In the second game, Stever pitched two innings while fanning two and givng up two runs. Walker then pitched the third to the eleventh inning thus pitching nine scoreless innings and fanning eleven batters. Carson took over for Walker in the twelfth and walked one man. For Woodland, Shrum pitched six innings fanning two and then Jordan took over to fan five and walk one. Lincoln took control of the mound in the eleventh and fanned three and walked three. Woodland started out the contest by taking a 2-0 lead in the first inning. The scoring came when Martin got a walk, then a single off of Wesbecher, then followed by a two run homerun by Jordan. Bernie got its scoring in the second inning with two runs and one in the twelfth. The scoring came in the second inning by a single off of Smothers and then Pointer, Fears tapped a sacrifice bunt, followed by Eads with a flyout, and then Carson singled and got 2 runs batted in. The one run in the twelfth came when Carson got a walk, then an error was committed on first base with Beechum on, Ward got on first and moved Carson to third, Ward then proceeded to steal second base, followed by a strikeout by Walker, and then Stever smashed a single to drive in the winning run. The outstanding leaders for Bernie were Beechum with one run, Smothers with one, and Ponter with one. The leading men for Woodland were Martin with one run and Jordan also with one.

In double header action Bell City took home victories in both with a 4-2 win over Puxico in the first game and 8-6 in the second. In the first game, the winning pitcher, Niemcyzk struck out one while walking three. Martin the losing pitcher, fanned four and walked only two. Bell City packed its runs into the first and fourth innings with two in each. For Puxico, their scoring occurred in the first and fifth innings with one in each. The outstanding leaders for Bell City were Rivers who made a double and a single and scored a run. Kinder also smashed a double along with Hart who had two singles and scored one run. Calhoun belted a double and teammates Niemczyk and Surface scored the other runs. For Puxiico, Pierce had a fantastic showing with a double and a single while Pogue scored the only two runs for the team.

In the second game, Bell City racked up its scoring in the first and fourth innings with four in each. For Puxico, they packed the most runs into the fifth inning with three, plus one in the first, one in the second, and one in the third. Surface, the winning pitcher, fanned one and walked four while Lee fanned two and walked five. The outstanding players for Bell City were Cox with a triple and two singles. Rivers did his part by scoring two runs along with Niemczyk with one, Rendelman with one, Cox with one, Kinder with one, Surface with one, and Calhoun with one. For Puxico, Phillips was an outstanding leader with a double and the scoring of one run. Daughterty also smashed a double along with Martin who knocked three singles. C. Martin joined in the endeavor with the scoring of two runs, R. Martin with one, and Payton also with two.

Mizzou grid talent on display Saturday

COLUMBIA, Mo.--As has been his custom, Tiger coach Al Onofrio aranged an even-steven split of his football talent for Saturday's climactic Black and Gold game on Faurot Field. Kickoff is at 1:30 p.m.

Onofrio's aides also will be apportioned to each squad on a selective basis. The head coach himself will view the action from a press-box booth, where he can communicate with both benches.

This preview of Onofrio's fifth Mizzou team will pit Steve Pisarkiewicz, 1974's regular quarterback, against freshman Pete Woods at the outset. Woods will be directing a more veteran-laden Gold cast--including co-captain Tony Galbreath, tailback; Joe Stewart, slotback; and Annise Davis, fullback.

Pisarkiewicz' backfield cohorts will be Curt Brown, tailback; Rich Lain, slotback; and John Blakeman, fullback.

Saturday's crowd won't see at least three injured running backs display their skills in this spring finale. Out with injuries are tail backs Jornel Williams and Dean Leibson, and fullback Tom McBride. Questionable, too, is Davis (listed as a Gold starter) because of a persistent back problem.

What type of game is in prospect(? Onofrio won't hazard a guess. For one thing, the defenses will play it straight--no stunting--and moreover, the Tigers are not likely to reveal anything that would be enlightening to four Alabama observers in the press box.

"I've been impressed with the hitting and attitude shown this spring," says Onofrio. "I have to say, too, that I am very pleased with the progress of both the offense and defense."

Mizzou fans will note that two ex-noseguards line up as defensive tackles in the springtime alignment--junior Tom Cooper and sophomore Randy Frisch.

Comforting to Onofrio also has been the emergence of redshirt sophomores Keith Morrissey and Don Cole at the same positions. This relieves some of the anxiety caused by the loss of four veteran tackles.

Also at linebacker spots, Tom Hodge and Bill Culp have moved up as replacements for Scott Pickens and Lynn Evans--and two newcomers are showing promise as well. They are freshman Pete Allard and junior college transfer Tim Helm.

Onofrio plans to lengthen at least one quarter Saturday.

"We'll probably add five minutes to one quarter, in order to give more players exposure," he points out. "In that way, we'll get a better look at the second unit players."

Outstanding player awards will go to two players on both the offensive and defensive teams. These plaques annually are sponsored and presented by the Columbia Quarterack Club.

Along with Jornel Williams, McBride and Leibson, other prominent Tigers who will be sidelined with injuries Saturday include: Co-captain Bob McRoberts, Dale Smith and Dave Legg, defensive ends; linebacker Mark Kirkpatrick; cornerback Brad Brown; center Randy Wepler; and offensive guard Kurt Wolfenberger.

Mets club Cardinals

NEW YORK (AP) — When they traded for centerfielder Del Unser, the New York Mets primarily were after his glove. The idea was to have someone in the position who could catch the ball.

But Unser brought along his bat, and it has paid huge dividends for his new team.

His three hits in Tuesday's 9-5 victory over St. Louis upped Unser's average to an impressive .409. No one is more surprised than Unser.

"I had a terrible spring," he said. "I'm still looking at videotapes of myself. I'm not swinging right. I'm not doing a lot of things right."

If he's hitting .409 now, just wait till he gets all those flaws ironed out.

The Mets projected Unser as a leadoff hitter, but Manager Yogi Berra has put him in the No. 3 slot. "I didn't have anybody batting third who was getting any hits. Unser's hot, so why not?" explained Berra.

Unser had three singles, leading a 13-hit Mets' attack that included two doubles by Felix Millan, a single and double by Rusty Staub and two singles by Ed Kranepool. Three St. Louis errors also contributed to the Mets victory.

The benefactor of all that offense was Jerry Koosman, who struggled to e$pnt7omplete-game victory. He threw 165 pitches—more than he ever had made in a game. The Cards reached him for nine hits and left 10 runners on base.

But the Mets bats gave him plenty of margin for error. Unser singled home two runs in the first inning, then scored on Kranepool's hit. After Reggie Smith's two-run homer, the Mets got the runs back on an RBI single by Wayne Garrett and Millan's second double.

8,gGrote singled home a run in the fifth and delivered another with a sacrifice fly in the seventh. Hits by Unser and Staub keyed a two-run eighth that made a two-run Cards' rally in the ninth meaningless.

Koosman wasn't exactly thrilled with his first victory of the season. "My stuff was looking so terrible," he said. "It gets embarrassing. With a big lead, like that, you'd hate to be knocked out."

Berra said he almost lifted his pitcher once or twice. "But he was well rested," quipped Berra.

That's because Koosman was kayoed in the second inning of his last start, also against the Cards, after the Mets had staked him to a six-run lead in the first inning.

Spirits resume Colonels series

LOUISVILLE (AP) — The Kentucky Colonels hold a 1-0 game lead over the Spirits of St. Louis in the American Basketball Association Eastern Division semifinal playoff series going into tonight's second game, but the Spirits aren't getting uptight about it.

"What's there to get tight about?" quizzed Spirits' Coach Bob MacKinnon.

The subject of being tight came up when reporters noticed how loose St. Louis seemed to be in practice.

Commenting on the St. Louis loss to Kentucky 112-109 Monday, a loss the Spirits suffered when they were outscored 4-0 in the final 10 seconds of play, rookie center Maurice Lucas nnmwas, "just luck...a matter of breaks.

"We just have to cut down on our mistakes—St. Louis committed 23 errors in Monday's game—shoot a little better and play a better game, "Lucas added.

Colonels' starting guard Ted McClain skipped practice Tuesday due to alack of sleep Monday night, g ,o5 by pain in his left elbow. McClain suffered a gash of the left arm which required four stitches in a collision with Gus Gerard of St. Louis. Gerard had a front tooth chipped and lost a cap off another.

McClain said he would "wear some kind of pad," on the cut tonight and said of the injury, "I don't think it is going to bother me that much."

Gerard said he is experiencing a bit of a tooth ache but hasn't needed to see a dentist just yet.

Lucas told reporters he is tired of hearing about the Spirits being a very physical team.

"Ain't nobody getting roughed up out there but me," he said. "They beat all over my poor body."

Fans important in NBA playoffs

By The Associated Press

Fans are becoming more and more important as the National Basketball Association playoffs progress. They meant victory Tuesday night to the Boston Celtics and Golden State Warriors.

It was unfortunate for the Houston Rockets, however, that it was their own fans who helped the Celtics score a 122-117 triumph. The decision gave Boston a 3-1 edge in the best-of-seven Eastern Conference semifinal series.

The Rockets had whittled down a big Celtics' lead as the fourth-quarter minutes ticked away. When Houston center Kevin Kunnert was called for a loose-ball foul, the throng erupted.

They threw ice, paper cups and even a pair of men's shoes as the Celtics scattered for cover. Boston Coach Tommy Heinsohn got conked with an unidentified flying object, but dn ictseem to mind after the triumph.

"I am ashamed that the fans have to be the story of the game," Heinsohn said. "It was a terrible display.

"But I'll tell you one thing: Houston's crowd helped us out. It took about five minutes to get the court cleared and we all got a nice little rest."

Apparently, the rest benefitted the Celtics more than the Rockets, who face extinction Thursday at Boston. Rest also helped the Warriors' Rick Barry, who watched most of the third period as his teammates blitzed the Seattle SuperSonics 124-100 to take a 3-2 lead in that Western Conference semifinal.

Those were the only playoff games scheduled Tuesday night. The other Eastern Conference semifinal resumes tonight with the Washington Bullets taking their 3-2 lead to Buffalo, while in the West the Chicago Bulls lead the Kansas City-Omaha Kings by the same margin entering tonight's sixth game.

Dave Cowens and Don Chaney finished with 29 points as Boston survived 35 points by Houston's Calvin Murphy and 31 more by Mike Newlin9 The Celtics built a big lead on a rs ifz period in which they shot 52 per cent from the field, made all six free throws and outrebounded the Rockets 17-8.

Joe Broughton of New Madrid claimed a 23-pound gobbler, sporting a 9¾ inch beard, at 6:05 a.m. Tuesday. The kill was made on Donaldson Point near New Madrid.

Mets club Cardinals

NEW YORK (AP) — When they traded for centerfielder Del Unser, the New York Mets primarily were after his glove. The idea was to have someone in the position who could catch the ball.

But Unser brought along his bat, and it has paid huge dividends for his new team.

His three hits in Tuesday's 9-5 victory over St. Louis upped Unser's average to an impressive .409. No one is more surprised than Unser.

"I had a terrible spring," he said. "I'm still looking at videotapes of myself. I'm not swinging right. I'm not doing a lot of things right."

If he's hitting .409 now, just wait till he gets all those flaws ironed out.

The Mets projected Unser as a leadoff hitter, but Manager Yogi Berra has put him in the No. 3 slot. "I didn't have anybody batting third who was getting any hits. Unser's hot, so why not?" explained Berra.

Unser had three singles, leading a 13-hit Mets' attack that included two doubles by Felix Millan, a single and double by Rusty Staub and two singles by Ed Kranepool. Three St. Louis errors also contributed to the Mets victory.

The benefactor of all that offense was Jerry Koosman, who struggled to e$pnt7omplete-game victory. He threw 165 pitches—more than he ever had made in a game. The Cards reached him for nine hits and left 10 runners on base.

But the Mets bats gave him plenty of margin for error. Unser singled home two runs in the first inning, then scored on Kranepool's hit. After Reggie Smith's two-run homer, the Mets got the runs back on an RBI single by Wayne Garrett and Millan's second double.

8,gGrote singled home a run in the fifth and delivered another with a sacrifice fly in the seventh. Hits by Unser and Staub keyed a two-run eighth that made a two-run Cards' rally in the ninth meaningless.

Koosman wasn't exactly thrilled with his first victory of the season. "My stuff was looking so terrible," he said. "It gets embarrassing. With a big lead, like that, you'd hate to be knocked out."

Berra said he almost lifted his pitcher once or twice. "But he was well rested," quipped Berra.

That's because Koosman was kayoed in the second inning of his last start, also against the Cards, after the Mets had staked him to a six-run lead in the first inning.

Spirits resume Colonels series

LOUISVILLE (AP) — The Kentucky Colonels hold a 1-0 game lead over the Spirits of St. Louis in the American Basketball Association Eastern Division semifinal playoff series going into tonight's second game, but the Spirits aren't getting uptight about it.

"What's there to get tight about?" quizzed Spirits' Coach Bob MacKinnon.

The subject of being tight came up when reporters noticed how loose St. Louis seemed to be in practice.

Commenting on the St. Louis loss to Kentucky 112-109 Monday, a loss the Spirits suffered when they were outscored 4-0 in the final 10 seconds of play, rookie center Maurice Lucas nnmwas, "just luck...a matter of breaks.

"We just have to cut down on our mistakes—St. Louis committed 23 errors in Monday's game—shoot a little better and play a better game, "Lucas added.

Colonels' starting guard Ted McClain skipped practice Tuesday due to alack of sleep Monday night, g ,o5 by pain in his left elbow. McClain suffered a gash of the left arm which required four stitches in a collision with Gus Gerard of St. Louis. Gerard had a front tooth chipped and lost a cap off another.

McClain said he would "wear some kind of pad," on the cut tonight and said of the injury, "I don't think it is going to bother me that much."

Gerard said he is experiencing a bit of a tooth ache but hasn't needed to see a dentist just yet.

Lucas told reporters he is tired of hearing about the Spirits being a very physical team.

"Ain't nobody getting roughed up out there but me," he said. "They beat all over my poor body."

South Carolina team members won the top award at an Olympic Day held Sunday for members of the Sikeston 4-H Club and Presbyterian youth group at Hunter Memorial First Presbyterian Church. From left, are team members Dan Fulton, Jeannette Mathers, Sandy Spurlin, Liz Ahlvin, Susie Coats, Lori Hoper and Barbara Marsh ; Pete Myers, who presented the awards; and Pete McLaughlin. On the swings in the background is John Wathen.

60 participate in olympics

Although a broken rope prevented either side from winning the North-South tug of war at the Sikeston 4-H Club and Presbyterian youth group joint Olympic Day held Sunday at Hunter Memorial First Presbyterian Church, about 60 participants seemed to enjoy the day's activities.

Youths in grades one through 12 participated in the Bicentennial theme event, for which contestants became citizens of either the northern colonies of Pennsylvania, New York and Massachusetts or the southern colonies of Virginia, Georgia and South Carolina.

After a parade of the colonies and a torch ceremony, the young people spent the afternoon competing in athletic events to win points for their colony and either the North or South.

Participants were divided into four groups to make the competition more even with first and second grade together, third and fourth in a group, fifth through seventh in the next class and eighth through 12th graders together.

Events included a distance run down the middle of Hawthorne Drive, standing broad jump, long jump, softball throw, short and long sprints, basketball free throw, football punt, jumping rope and the team dash relay.

The day ended with announcement of winners by 4-H Club president Peter Myers Jr. The South narrowly edged the North in overall competition, and the colony of South Carolina was declared the most athletic group.

Marcia Manning, Judy Hawley, Mary Myers and the Rev. Tom Bass were adult advisors for the Olympic Day planning committee.

THIRD RUDEL WINNER ANNOUNCED

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York City Opera announces that John Miner, 27, is the third winner of the Julius Rudel Award.

Established in 1968 by Lawrence E. Deutsch and Lloyd E. Rigler, the award provides for a young conductor to work with Rudel at the opera in an intensive artistic and administrative internship.

Madrid district attains AA classification

HOWARDVILLE--The New Madrid County R-1 Enlarged School District has met the requirements established by the Missouri State Board of Education for AA classification of public schools.

The classification and accreditation requirements are designed to encourage improvement of educational programs, to assist local districts in meeting student needs with new and expanded programs and to promote equitable distribution of opportunities among the children and young people of the state.

The district has been working towards higher classification, and plans are being made to continue this progress.

Standards to be met by all classified and accredited school districts include a measurement of philosophy, goals and objectives; policies of the board of education; administration; budget and financial accounting; salary schedule; records and reports; certificates and transcripts; health certificates; secretarial personnel; school health services; school food services; and transportation.

In addition, standards are set to cover school sites, buildings and custodial services, school term and school day; instruction time; high school credit; high school graduation requirements; instruction in special subjects required by Missouri statutes that include physiology and hygiene, drug abuse education, U.S. and Missouri constitution and American history; student activities; area vocational schools and special districts; evaluation; and in'service educatin.

Included in the classification report is a listing of the number of units of credit offered in each of the district's high school.

These are: Lilbourn High School, 109.50; Matthews High School, 67.75; New Madrid High School, 103,50; Parma High School, 78.00; and Portageville High School, 104,50.

Participation in vocational technical school courses is a primary factor in the total number of units offered by each high school.

The district received advisements on personnel who need to earn appropriate graduate credit and a need for improvement in library organization and materials.

The classification evaluation was sent to school district officials after a two-day visit by Huey D. Cook, district supervisor, and Leslie L. McDaniel, director of supervision, of the State Department of Education.

MODEL NOW CLIMBS A TREE

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — Nancy Tyrell, 5-foot-7 blue-eyed brunette, finding her modeling hours diminishing has taken on a "loftier" profession. The 21-year-old is now a tree surgeon.

No longer a novice, Nancy has been balancing her 130 pounds in tree tops while operating a chainsaw for two years.

Official says OSHA bill defeated by misinformation

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Defeat of the bill providing for state takeover of the controversial Occupational Safety and Health Act was caused primarily by misinformation distributed by opponents of the measure, according to the official who has worked on development of the proposed state OSHA program.

"There's no question about it," Charles Hennemeyer of the state Division of Labor Standards said Tuesday in reference to what he called incorrect claims that state takeover would not replace federal jurisdication in the job safety program but just add a state bureaucracy.

"I've got the material to refute it, but we weren't able to use it properly," he commented shortly after the House voted to kill the bill, sponsored by Florissant Democrat Daniel O'Toole.

Although an attempt to revive consideration of the measure is theoretically possible if a two-thirds vote of the House can be obtained, O'Toole admitted that such an attempt would be "an uphill battle at best."

Opponents of the bill indicated they agreed with large organizations representing business interests that the bill would only duplicate inspection operations under the 1970 federal law through both state and federal programs run independently.

But Hennemeyer, citing the federal law itself, Labor Department directives and actual experience of other states, and federal regional OSHA director Harold Smith bot'z88,o), federal inspections would have ceased had the state moved to assume control of the program.

Hennemeyer suggested that business interests, strongly opposed to the strict regulations of the federal law, believe they can win modification of those standards in Congress.

"If they keep the states out, they somehow feel that OSHA will go away," he commented. "That won't happen."

Achievement cited

Jeff Emory, a freshman at East Prairie High School, recently received certificates from Eastman Kodak Co. and the Army for outstanding achievement in the 19th annual Southeast Missouri regional science fair at Cape Girardeau. Emory is shown with his project, which demonstrated how sound may be used to activate electrical equipment.

Prairie freshman cited for project

EAST PRAIRIE — Jeff Emory, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Emory and a freshman at East Prairie High School, has received a certificate from the Eastman Kodak Company in recognition of outstanding photography in a science project, and a U.S. Army certificate of achievement for an outstanding science project.

Emory's project, audio amplification and detection-theory and applications, was one of the entries in the 19th annual Southeast Missouri regional science fair April 8-11 in Houck Field House at Cape Girardeau.

The project was a demonstration of how sound may be used to activate electrical equipment.

The project used a sound-activated switch to take pictures of objects, such as eggs being broken, balloons bursting and light bulbs exploding, which require precise timing.

In addition to the certificate from Eastman Kodak Co., a $25 certificate was also awarded to Emory, to be used for the purchase of photography equipment. The school also received a $25 certificate to be used by the science department.

Court-appointed attorneys may not be paid on time

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Some court-appointed attorneys might not be paid on time unless the courts rule the cost of Missouri's public defender system can exceed its legislative limit, Rep. Joe Holt said Tuesday.

Holt, D-Fulton, heads a fiscal affairs subcommittee overseeing the public defender system. The subcommittee has released the remaining $104,000 in the public defender fund, but $71,000 of that goes to pay back bills and Holt says there appears to be no way the remaining funds can carry the program through the remainder of the year.

The fund carries a legislative spending ceiling of $1.8 million.

Volunteers to be honored

EAST PRAIRIE — Members of the Mississippi County Retired Seniors Volunteer Program will be honored at the second annual RSVP banquet scheduled at 6:30 p.m. Friday in the A. J. Martin Elementary School cafeteria. Hosts for the banquet will be the Junior Civic Club.

More than 140 persons, including volunteers, worksite supervisors, board members of the East Prairie Chamber of Commerce — sponsoring organization of RSVP — and officers of civic organizations instrumental in the progress of the program in the county, are expected to attend.

Dr. Lamb

Prostate problems cause concern

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My husband is retired from the Navy, and on his last physical checkup he was told by the doctor that examined him that he had a slightly enlarged prostate, but it was nothing to worry about.

I do worry, because his urine flow is just a trickle, also he has no sex drive and hasn't had for a year and a half.

He is 72, and we just celebrated our golden anniversary, so sex isn't important, but doesn't it have a bearing on the prostate? I would appreciate a comment from you.

DEAR READER — Prostate gland problems seem to come to almost all men who live long enough. You are right to be concerned.

You can't always tell from examining the prostate on a routine physical examination just how much trouble it is causing. The examination only permits the doctor to feel the outer shell, only the back side of the gland at that. He can estimate its overall size and regularity of shape. He can feel how firm it is and if there are any nodules. Both firmness and nodules are related to the possibility of prostate cancer.

The prostate gland is like a cork with a hole in it. The urethra that drains the bladder is like a tube passing through that hole. If the prostate gland grows and closes down the hole in the center it compresses the urethra and urination becomes difficult.

When the prostate enlarges outwardly but the hole stays the same size it won't affect the urethral tube or the man's ability to urinate normally.

The point is the doctor can't tell anything about the size of the hole at all with his finger. The hole after all is in the center of the prostate. Rather he gets an idea of how much obstruction there is from the patient's story.

It takes two to tango here. The doctor may need to ask about it and the patient will need to tell the doctor the facts. If your husband doesn't tell his doctor that he is having a very small stream and trouble with urination the doctor will not have the information he needs to judge the state of his prostate.

If the story suggests obstruction of the opening then tests can be made to see how much obstruction is present. If it is enough to cause the urine to be retained in the bladder or cause overstretching of the bladder, it may be necessary to operate and relieve the obstruction.

A small stream, difficulty in starting, and difficulty in stopping without dribbling are all symptoms of prostate obstruction. When this condition is advanced, the bladder never empties adequately, and the distended bladder is a setup for infection. Also the distended bladder constantly gives the man the urge to urinate. So, he makes frequent trips to the bathroom and eliminates a small amount with difficulty each time. This may also interrupt his sleep.

For more information on prostate problems write to me in care of this newspaper, P.O.Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019, and ask for The Health Letter number 1-6 on the prostate gland. Send a long, self-addressed stamped envelope and 50 cents to cover costs.

What's the law?

The case of the 2-fisted venetian blind

Roscoe signed up Muscles McGirk to fight a main bout at his sports emporium. Unfortunately, McGirk never made it to the arena. The night before the scheduled bout, he was KO'd by a two-fisted venetian blind.

As he was attempting to adjust the negligently hung blind in the hotel room Roscoe had rented for him, the blind suddenly fell on McGirk and flattened him.

Forced to cancel the entire boxing card for the night, Roscoe sued the owner of the hotel for the amount of his lost gate.

"While McGirk's been flattened by a lot of bums in his time," conceded Roscoe, "it was the first time he's ever been KO'd by a venetian blind. Since my losses were due directly to the negligence of the hotel owner in hanging that blind, he should be liable for what I lost."

"While McGirk may have taken in on the bean and may have some claim against me," responded the hotel owner, "I can't be held responsible because Roscoe took it in the pocketbook, He wasn't a guest in my hotel. McGirk was."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you hold the hotel owner liable for Roscoe's lost gate?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that as a basic principal of law, a wrongdoer is only responsible for the direct and promimate results of his wrongful acts. And where that wrongful act causes injury to a person so that he canot carry out a contractual obligation to a third party, that third party cannot hold the wrondoer liable since his losses are deemed to be too remote and indirect.

Morehouse--Mrs. John Shoulders drove to Cape Girardeau to visit her husband on Sunday. Mr. Shoulders is in the St. Francis Hospital for treatment.

With a team score of more than twice that of its closest competitor, the Sikeston High boys' track team won signal honors at the 10-school county track meet at Benton Frday. The Sikeston team totaled 44 points by placing in all of the 11 events, in four of which they won first place. Sikeston also tied for first in the half-mile.

The highest individual record was won by Clyde Nicholas of Sikeston, who made 17 points of Sikeston's total talley. Nicholas placed first in the shot, running board jump and the pole vault and third in the standing broad jump. Besides Nicholas' consistent winning of first, Marshall and Houchens also won firsts. Marshall won the 220-yard dash, Trousdale second, and Houchens tied with an Oran man for first in the half-mile.

Dr. Lamb

Prostate problems cause concern

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My husband is retired from the Navy, and on his last physical checkup he was told by the doctor that examined him that he had a slightly enlarged prostate, but it was nothing to worry about.

I do worry, because his urine flow is just a trickle, also he has no sex drive and hasn't had for a year and a half.

He is 72, and we just celebrated our golden anniversary, so sex isn't important, but doesn't it have a bearing on the prostate? I would appreciate a comment from you.

DEAR READER — Prostate gland problems seem to come to almost all men who live long enough. You are right to be concerned.

You can't always tell from examining the prostate on a routine physical examination just how much trouble it is causing. The examination only permits the doctor to feel the outer shell, only the back side of the gland at that. He can estimate its overall size and regularity of shape. He can feel how firm it is and if there are any nodules. Both firmness and nodules are related to the possibility of prostate cancer.

The prostate gland is like a cork with a hole in it. The urethra that drains the bladder is like a tube passing through that hole. If the prostate gland grows and closes down the hole in the center it compresses the urethra and urination becomes difficult.

When the prostate enlarges outwardly but the hole stays the same size it won't affect the urethral tube or the man's ability to urinate normally.

The point is the doctor can't tell anything about the size of the hole at all with his finger. The hole after all is in the center of the prostate. Rather he gets an idea of how much obstruction there is from the patient's story.

It takes two to tango here. The doctor may need to ask about it and the patient will need to tell the doctor the facts. If your husband doesn't tell his doctor that he is having a very small stream and trouble with urination the doctor will not have the information he needs to judge the state of his prostate.

If the story suggests obstruction of the opening then tests can be made to see how much obstruction is present. If it is enough to cause the urine to be retained in the bladder or cause overstretching of the bladder, it may be necessary to operate and relieve the obstruction.

A small stream, difficulty in starting, and difficulty in stopping without dribbling are all symptoms of prostate obstruction. When this condition is advanced, the bladder never empties adequately, and the distended bladder is a setup for infection. Also the distended bladder constantly gives the man the urge to urinate. So, he makes frequent trips to the bathroom and eliminates a small amount with difficulty each time. This may also interrupt his sleep.

For more information on prostate problems write to me in care of this newspaper, P.O.Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019, and ask for The Health Letter number 1-6 on the prostate gland. Send a long, self-addressed stamped envelope and 50 cents to cover costs.

From The Living Bible

Here I am living in this beautiful cedar palace while the Ark of God is out in a tent!" "Go ahead with what you have in mind," Nathan replied, "for the Lord is with you." But that night the Lord said to Nathan, "Tell my servant David not to do it! For I have never lived in a temple. My home has been a tent ever since the time I brought Israel out of Egypt. And I have never once complained to Israel's leaders. Have I ever asked them, 'Why haven't you built me a beautiful cedar temple?'

7 area students on dean's list

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Seven Southeast Missouri students were named to the dean's list for the fall semester at Southern Illinois University.

The SeMo students are Melvin J. Albrecht of Illmo, Stephen D. Schaefer of Perryville, Patricia Haertling of Frohna, Dana F. Overbey of Dexter and Eileen M. Baechel, Jane M. Schmelzle and Gina L. Zarinelli of Ste. Genevieve.

Horton Smith in 1934 and Gene Sarazen in 1935 won the Masters golf tournament in their first attempts.

THE GOOD EARTH looks pretty high, even for goat grazing. The craggy scene is China's Sinkian-Uighur Autonomous Region, high in the Tien-Shan Mountains.

Some people believe that a "birth tree" planted at the time a child is born will reflect in its growth the nature of the child's life.

SeMo State to receive $10.2 million in funds

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee has recommended $120 million from state revenues to help fund the University of Missouri next year.

The committee proposal Monday night was more than $500,000 above Gov. Christopher S. Bond's request and included $250,000 for the operation of the proposed new optometry school in St. Louis.

The panel also approved $117 million budget for the state Mental Health Department and $465 million for the Social Services Department.

In other action, a Senate panel heard a witness immunity bill that backers say would help fight organized crime.

Here is a list of the committee's funding recommendations for other state universities and colleges, compared with Gov. Bond's request and this year's appropriations:

—Southwest Mo. State University, $13.7 million; $13.4 million asked by governor; $12 million this year. —Central Mo. State University, $11.1 million; $13 million asked by governor; $11.1 million this year.

—Southeast Mo. State University, $10.2 million; $9.2 million asked bygovernor; $8.4 million this year.

--Northeast Mo. State University, $8 million; $9 million asked by governor; $8.3 million this year.

—Northwest Mo. State University, $6.3 million; $6.4 million asked by governor; $6.2 million this year.

—Mo. Southern State College, $2.5 million; $2.4 million asked by governor; $2.1 million this year.

—Mo. Western State College, $2.4 million; $2.4 million asked by governor; $2.5 million this year.

—Lincoln University, $4.6 million; $4.6 million asked by governor; $4.5 million this year.

For mental health department, the House panel approved a 6 per cent raise for employes next year. But it cut out an additional 5 per cent merit rais Gov. Bond had asked for a fifth of the employes.

The panel also trimmed state funding of the Aid to Dependent Children welfare program by $5 million from the governor's request of $126.8 million. The request didn't include proposed increases in ADC payments.

In Senate action, Rep. Bob Griffin, D-Cameron, told the Criminal Jurisprudence Committee that the witness immunity proposal would "help strike a balance between a criminal's right not to p incriminate himself and society's right to prosecute cases."

But Sen. Lawrence Lee, D-St. Louis, opposed the bill, saying prosecuting attorneys already can make private arrangements with witnesses not to prosecute them.

The witness immunity bill has passed the House the last three years, but has been snagged in Senate committee.

The proposal would give a witness immunity from prosecution on questions he refused to answer because of a person's constitutional right not to incriminate himself.

Witness immunity is allowed in federal courts.

Cooking Up

By CHERIE BLANTON

I always think it is so much fun to wonder about the celebrities -about how they live, work and especially how they eat. So, here are some recipes reputed to be the favorite of the following stars.

These are all main dishes I believe will be crowd-pleasers even if you are not a celebrity yourself. This is a favorite recipe from famous columnists, Abigail Van Buren.

CHICKEN PAPRIKA

¼ cup butter
2 Tbsp. cooking oil.
2 fryers, 2 to 3 pounds each, cut up
½ cup sliced onion, carrot, celery (½ cup of each)
2 Tbsp. paprika
3 tbsp flour
1½ tsp. salt
¼ tsp. pepper
1 tbsp. ketchup
1¾ cups chicken broth
½ cup sour cream

Brown chicken in oil and butter in large skillet, removing chicken as it gets brown. Add vegetables and cook five minutes, stirring occasionally. Add paprika and stirr one minute. Blend in flour and heat until bubbly. Add salt pepper, ketchup and broth. Bring to boiling, stirring constantly and cook one to two minutes. Reduce heat and simmer; covered for 10 minutes. Add chicken; simmer, covered 35 to 40 minutes or until tender.

Remove chicken and vegetables and gradually add sour cream to the sauce, stirring constantly, heat thoroughly. Do not boil. Spoon some of the sauce over the chicken and serve the rest on the side.

This easy-to-prepare, delicious steak-oyster bake is one of the specialties of Hollywood personality Martha Hyer.

OYSTERS UP

1 beef sirloin steak, cut 1¾ inches thick
2 tbsp. butter
Salt
Freshly ground black pepper
1 pint oysters, drained and picked over

Broil steak five miuntes on each side; remove to heatproof platter. Spread steak with one tbsp. butter and sprinkle with mixture of one-half teaspoon salt and one-eighth teaspoon pepper. Cover steak with oysters; season with same amount of butter, salt and pepper . Leaving steak on platter. Bake at 425 degrees for 20 minutes. or until oysters are plump with edges curled. Do not overcook.

This recpe has earned Glynis Johns, stage and screen star, such a reputation that friends call ahead to request it as part of her dinner menu.

BEEF A LA FONDUE

2 tsp. butter
1 tbsp. flour
½ cup dry white wine
½ pound Swiss cheese, shredded
1½ pounds beef top sirloin steak, cut in bite-size pices
Cooking oil for deep frying, heated to 375 degrees

Melt butter in top of double broiler over boiling water. Remove from heat; add flour and some of wine, mixing to a smooth paste. Add remaining wine; heat over water until thickened, stirring. Add cheese; heat until melted and keep warm.

At serving time, heat cooking oil. Provide guests with long-handled forks.

Each guest cooks a cube of beef on the fork and dips it into the fondue and then into side dishes such as horseradish sauce, mustard sauce, chopped chives or chutney.

This is extremely simple to prepare, sophisticated in flavor and is actress Barbara Stanwyck's favorite way with steak.

STEAK A LA BARBARA STANWYCK

½ cup soy sauce
1 tsp. brown sugar
¼ tsp. black pepper
1 tsp. olive oil
1 club steak or small Porterhouse, about ¾ inch thick
2 tbsp. butter

Mix sauce with sugar, pepper and oil and pour into shallow pan. Put steak into sauce and marinate 30 minutes. Heat a large heavy skillet; add butter and when very hot, add the steak to skillet. Cook over high heat until charred on one side; turn and cook quickly until charred on other side. Serve immediately on a well-heated platter.

Put basket in closet for dirty laundry

By Polly Cramer

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — I have a problem storing dirty laundry until wash day. The house we have moved into does not have a laundry chute. With four children I have too much wash for a regular clothes hamper. Any suggestions? — JOAN L.

DEAR JOAN L. — A reader once wrote that she kept a plastic laundry basket in each bedroom closet to catch the dirty clothes. This makes it easy for the children to drop things into the basket that might otherwise go on the closet or bedroom floor. No extra steps are needed to throw things into the handy basket. On laundry day go from closet to closet with one basket and empty all the others into it. How do you other mothers manage this? — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with the expiration dates on the food coupons we all use so much. They are printed among the sentences of explanation and in small print. It would certainly be more convenient for homemakers if all expiration dates were in large print at the bottom of the coupons. This also would help Senior Citizens who have difficulty reading the tiny print when they search for this date. — LOUISE.

DEAR POLLY — A metal shower curtain hook makes a sturdy, easy opening key ring that will not break at a disastrous moment. It also is easier to remove or add keys than from most key holders.

For a more professional-looking job use a piece of net to reinforce large holes being darned. The net provides an excellent base, makes the job easier to do and prevents puckering. — MARY S.

DEAR POLLY — I bought an animal pillow that was to be stuffed and instead made two bibs from it. I used a towel for the lining and put ties at the top. Mothers could also make cover-all aprons for the little people simply by adding ties to fasten in the back. — MRS.J.G.

DEAR POLLY — I conserve on energy by doing larger loads of wash at one time rather than the more frequent smaller ones I used to do. Now I wash only once a week. My dishwasher is only used twice a week. I conserve on dishwashing liquid for hand washing dishes and pans by measuring one teaspoon of the liquid and find I usually have plenty of suds and seldom need to add more liquid. It is amazing how much longer a bottle of liquid lasts since I have started measuring. I also conserve by turning the heating thermostat off when we go to bed and then use the electric blanket. I try to use only one light in a room when this is at all possible. — EDNA.

DEAR POLLY — I find that one of those sponges with a handle is great to use for removing that oily grease left under the rim and around the inside top of my washer after I have washed my husband's work clothes. I fill the washer about half full of rather hot water, detergent and bleach and scrub away. — MARCY.

Save time and money on daily lunches. If you have a freezer make enough sandwiches for a week at a time, then freeze. Take them out for packing at breakfast and they should be well thawed by lunch time.

Coffee Cup Comments: The true flavor of coffee is locked in the coffee beans. So, for really good coffee, brew it from freshly ground beans. The makers of KitchenAid Electric Coffee Mills say grinding coffee is a snap with the appliance. Simply fill the hopper with coffee beans, dial your favorite grind and flip the switch. Brew right away and presto—fresh coffee!

Brown chicken in oil and butter in large skillet, removing chicken as it gets brown. Add vegetables and cook five minutes, stirring occasionally. Add paprika and stirr one minute. Blend in flour and heat until bubbly. Add salt pepper, ketchup and broth. Bring to boiling, stirring constantly and cook one to two minutes. Reduce heat and simmer; covered for 10 minutes. Add chicken; simmer, covered 35 to 40 minutes or until tender.

Remove chicken and vegetables and gradually add sour cream to the sauce, stirring constantly, heat thoroughly. Do not boil. Spoon some of the sauce over the chicken and serve the rest on the side.

This easy-to-prepare, delicious steak-oyster bake is one of the specialties of Hollywood personality Martha Hyer.

OYSTERS UP

1 beef sirloin steak, cut 1¾ inches thick
2 tbsp. butter
Salt
Freshly ground black pepper
1 pint oysters, drained and picked over

Broil steak five miuntes on each side; remove to heatproof platter. Spread steak with one tbsp. butter and sprinkle with mixture of one-half teaspoon salt and one-eighth teaspoon pepper. Cover steak with oysters; season with same amount of butter, salt and pepper . Leaving steak on platter. Bake at 425 degrees for 20 minutes. or until oysters are plump with edges curled. Do not overcook.

This recpe has earned Glynis Johns, stage and screen star, such a reputation that friends call ahead to request it as part of her dinner menu.

BEEF A LA FONDUE

2 tsp. butter
1 tbsp. flour
½ cup dry white wine
½ pound Swiss cheese, shredded
1½ pounds beef top sirloin steak, cut in bite-size pices
Cooking oil for deep frying, heated to 375 degrees

Melt butter in top of double broiler over boiling water. Remove from heat; add flour and some of wine, mixing to a smooth paste. Add remaining wine; heat over water until thickened, stirring. Add cheese; heat until melted and keep warm.

At serving time, heat cooking oil. Provide guests with long-handled forks.

Each guest cooks a cube of beef on the fork and dips it into the fondue and then into side dishes such as horseradish sauce, mustard sauce, chopped chives or chutney.

This is extremely simple to prepare, sophisticated in flavor and is actress Barbara Stanwyck's favorite way with steak.

STEAK A LA BARBARA STANWYCK

½ cup soy sauce
1 tsp. brown sugar
¼ tsp. black pepper
1 tsp. olive oil
1 club steak or small Porterhouse, about ¾ inch thick
2 tbsp. butter

Mix sauce with sugar, pepper and oil and pour into shallow pan. Put steak into sauce and marinate 30 minutes. Heat a large heavy skillet; add butter and when very hot, add the steak to skillet. Cook over high heat until charred on one side; turn and cook quickly until charred on other side. Serve immediately on a well-heated platter.

Put basket in closet for dirty laundry

By Polly Cramer

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — I have a problem storing dirty laundry until wash day. The house we have moved into does not have a laundry chute. With four children I have too much wash for a regular clothes hamper. Any suggestions? — JOAN L.

DEAR JOAN L. — A reader once wrote that she kept a plastic laundry basket in each bedroom closet to catch the dirty clothes. This makes it easy for the children to drop things into the basket that might otherwise go on the closet or bedroom floor. No extra steps are needed to throw things into the handy basket. On laundry day go from closet to closet with one basket and empty all the others into it. How do you other mothers manage this? — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with the expiration dates on the food coupons we all use so much. They are printed among the sentences of explanation and in small print. It would certainly be more convenient for homemakers if all expiration dates were in large print at the bottom of the coupons. This also would help Senior Citizens who have difficulty reading the tiny print when they search for this date. — LOUISE.

DEAR POLLY — A metal shower curtain hook makes a sturdy, easy opening key ring that will not break at a disastrous moment. It also is easier to remove or add keys than from most key holders.

For a more professional-looking job use a piece of net to reinforce large holes being darned. The net provides an excellent base, makes the job easier to do and prevents puckering. — MARY S.

DEAR POLLY — I bought an animal pillow that was to be stuffed and instead made two bibs from it. I used a towel for the lining and put ties at the top. Mothers could also make cover-all aprons for the little people simply by adding ties to fasten in the back. — MRS.J.G.

DEAR POLLY — I conserve on energy by doing larger loads of wash at one time rather than the more frequent smaller ones I used to do. Now I wash only once a week. My dishwasher is only used twice a week. I conserve on dishwashing liquid for hand washing dishes and pans by measuring one teaspoon of the liquid and find I usually have plenty of suds and seldom need to add more liquid. It is amazing how much longer a bottle of liquid lasts since I have started measuring. I also conserve by turning the heating thermostat off when we go to bed and then use the electric blanket. I try to use only one light in a room when this is at all possible. — EDNA.

DEAR POLLY — I find that one of those sponges with a handle is great to use for removing that oily grease left under the rim and around the inside top of my washer after I have washed my husband's work clothes. I fill the washer about half full of rather hot water, detergent and bleach and scrub away. — MARCY.

Save time and money on daily lunches. If you have a freezer make enough sandwiches for a week at a time, then freeze. Take them out for packing at breakfast and they should be well thawed by lunch time.

Coffee Cup Comments: The true flavor of coffee is locked in the coffee beans. So, for really good coffee, brew it from freshly ground beans. The makers of KitchenAid Electric Coffee Mills say grinding coffee is a snap with the appliance. Simply fill the hopper with coffee beans, dial your favorite grind and flip the switch. Brew right away and presto—fresh coffee!

Reminiscing over the president's face

By Tom Tiede

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — A decision by the U.S. Postal Service to henceforth prohibit the hanging of presidential photographs in post office lobbies has provoked at least one easily rattled congressman to proclaim it as downgrading of the presidency.

My view is otherwise, seeing the postal order as a step away from banana republicanism, and convinced that after Richard Nixon there is nothing imaginable that could further downgrade the presidency.

Whatever the merits of the small controversy, however, it serves to remind me of a related, and I think, informative incident that occured in the last decade during the Vietnam war. I don't recall the names involved in the matter but the moral of it remains vivid.

It was early in the conflict. The mid 1960s. The American force was still comparatively small, the few homefront war dissenters were still called peaceniks, the men of the battle were still for the most part resigned to their fate and only rarely considered the larger implications of it.

It was winter. The temperatures in the 80s. The troops called Vietnam "Suntan Strip." It was a time, if I remember right, almost of innocence.

It was also a time of killing, and much of it centered northwest of Saigon in a region occupied by the 173rd Airborne Brigade. These men, originally brought from the Philippines for the three months temporary duty, were by now permanently assigned.

Indeed, in these early days, the airborne troops suffered the highest combat and casualty rate in the war zone. One company lost four captains in a year's time, and its overall casualty count in the same period was between 60 and 80 per cent. Few American soldiers have ever fought so much for so long for so little.

I recorded many of the unit's war stories at the time. It was the first unit to have a black Medal of Honor winner, the first unit to order a lifetime subscription to Playboy magazine and receive an inauguration copy from a centerfold bunny. It was also the first unit, I believe, to award a silver star to a commanding general for doing nothing more than flying over a battle in a helicopter.

Despite my present views on the Vietnam protraction, I have never been so proud of any Americans as I was of most of these good men. God help us, I wonder where that innocence has gone.

In retrospect, I suppose the chastity was beginning to fade when one member of the 173rd, call him Private Smith, received a long-requested autographed picture of President Lyndon Johnson, and another member of the unit, call him Private Jones, used the occasion for fun. Smith and Jones were pals, they came from the same town, went to the same school, occupied the same hootch — but where Smith was a conformist, Jones was something else.

Very proud of his LBJ picture, Private Smith hung it in the hootch, only to find after a few days Private Jones had decorated it with horns.

At first Smith merely erased the pencil marks, telling Jones to lay off. But Jones, getting a rise from his establishment friend, repeated the horns. It went on like this for a month — Jones drawing the horns at night, Smith removing them in the morning — until the latter lost control of reason. Smith tore the photo down, put it in his bag, and told Jones he was moving from the hootch. He didn't move, but though Jones apologized and tried to smooth it, Smith didn't make up either. The two friends did not talk for many weeks.

No doubt the feud would have ended eventually. But before it could, Private Jones was killed on patrol. He stepped on a mine. The sergeant who informed Smith said the young man's face turned red at the news, his eyes filmed over and his hands began to shake.

Some time later he went to his hootch, took the LBJ photograph from his bag — then marked it with horns and a moustache. He hung it up thus, in memory of his friend, and there it remained until Private Smith, too, was killed a few months after.

Spain calls for open political process now

JEFFERSON CITY — James E. Spain, Missouri Democratic Party chairman, has challenged the Republican Party to open up its political process to all segments of the populace as the Democratic Party has done.

In remarks bekfore the Cole County Women's Democratic Club in Jefferson City, Spain called the Democratic Party's Affirmative Action Program the optimum vehicle to insure an open political process in this country.

"The Democratic Party has made its procedures accessible to the entire population. And I challenge the Republican Party do do the same – open its political party to broad representation as we have," Spain asserted.

"Our party wants to appeal to all Americans, not just a small cliche of special interests as the Republican Party has symbolized for so long," he continued. .."The Democratic Party is not just saying it wants to be open, it's doing something about it. That's more than I can say for the Republican Party -- which apparently can't or won't open itself to all Americans.

"The Democratic Party has moved forward through Affirmative Action to make itself the party of all the people. The goal is clear. Democrats at the party's mid-term convention expressed explicitly that they want a party available to all of society and this is being realized through Affirmative Action," Spain said.

All states were required to draft an affirmative action plan as a result of the national party constitution approved at the 1974 mid-term convention in Kansas City. The Democratic State Committee approved a Missouri Affirmative Action plan March 13 that now is being considered by the Compliance and Review Commission of the Democratic National Committee.

Spain told the Democratic gathering he thinks the commission will approve the Missouri plan, saying it follows guidelines set down by the national party organization.

Explaining the Affirmative Action Program, Spain said: "It's a vigorous program to expand the role of minority groups in the party's delegate selection. It's an educational and publicity effort to inform Americans of the selection process from the local level on up. We want as broad of participation as we can get. And Affirmative Action is the best vehicle to insure that objective is met."

Reminiscing over the president's face

By Tom Tiede

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — A decision by the U.S. Postal Service to henceforth prohibit the hanging of presidential photographs in post office lobbies has provoked at least one easily rattled congressman to proclaim it as downgrading of the presidency.

My view is otherwise, seeing the postal order as a step away from banana republicanism, and convinced that after Richard Nixon there is nothing imaginable that could further downgrade the presidency.

Whatever the merits of the small controversy, however, it serves to remind me of a related, and I think, informative incident that occured in the last decade during the Vietnam war. I don't recall the names involved in the matter but the moral of it remains vivid.

It was early in the conflict. The mid 1960s. The American force was still comparatively small, the few homefront war dissenters were still called peaceniks, the men of the battle were still for the most part resigned to their fate and only rarely considered the larger implications of it.

It was winter. The temperatures in the 80s. The troops called Vietnam "Suntan Strip." It was a time, if I remember right, almost of innocence.

It was also a time of killing, and much of it centered northwest of Saigon in a region occupied by the 173rd Airborne Brigade. These men, originally brought from the Philippines for the three months temporary duty, were by now permanently assigned.

Indeed, in these early days, the airborne troops suffered the highest combat and casualty rate in the war zone. One company lost four captains in a year's time, and its overall casualty count in the same period was between 60 and 80 per cent. Few American soldiers have ever fought so much for so long for so little.

I recorded many of the unit's war stories at the time. It was the first unit to have a black Medal of Honor winner, the first unit to order a lifetime subscription to Playboy magazine and receive an inauguration copy from a centerfold bunny. It was also the first unit, I believe, to award a silver star to a commanding general for doing nothing more than flying over a battle in a helicopter.

Despite my present views on the Vietnam protraction, I have never been so proud of any Americans as I was of most of these good men. God help us, I wonder where that innocence has gone.

In retrospect, I suppose the chastity was beginning to fade when one member of the 173rd, call him Private Smith, received a long-requested autographed picture of President Lyndon Johnson, and another member of the unit, call him Private Jones, used the occasion for fun. Smith and Jones were pals, they came from the same town, went to the same school, occupied the same hootch — but where Smith was a conformist, Jones was something else.

Very proud of his LBJ picture, Private Smith hung it in the hootch, only to find after a few days Private Jones had decorated it with horns.

At first Smith merely erased the pencil marks, telling Jones to lay off. But Jones, getting a rise from his establishment friend, repeated the horns. It went on like this for a month — Jones drawing the horns at night, Smith removing them in the morning — until the latter lost control of reason. Smith tore the photo down, put it in his bag, and told Jones he was moving from the hootch. He didn't move, but though Jones apologized and tried to smooth it, Smith didn't make up either. The two friends did not talk for many weeks.

No doubt the feud would have ended eventually. But before it could, Private Jones was killed on patrol. He stepped on a mine. The sergeant who informed Smith said the young man's face turned red at the news, his eyes filmed over and his hands began to shake.

Some time later he went to his hootch, took the LBJ photograph from his bag — then marked it with horns and a moustache. He hung it up thus, in memory of his friend, and there it remained until Private Smith, too, was killed a few months after.

Spain calls for open political process now

JEFFERSON CITY — James E. Spain, Missouri Democratic Party chairman, has challenged the Republican Party to open up its political process to all segments of the populace as the Democratic Party has done.

In remarks bekfore the Cole County Women's Democratic Club in Jefferson City, Spain called the Democratic Party's Affirmative Action Program the optimum vehicle to insure an open political process in this country.

"The Democratic Party has made its procedures accessible to the entire population. And I challenge the Republican Party do do the same -- open its political party to broad representation as we have," Spain asserted.

"Our party wants to appeal to all Americans, not just a small cliche of special interests as the Republican Party has symbolized for so long," he continued. . . "The Democratic Party is not just saying it wants to be open, it's doing something about it. That's more than I can say for the Republican Party -- which apparently can't or won't open itself to all Americans.

"The Democratic Party has moved forward through Affirmative Action to make itself the party of all the people. The goal is clear. Democrats at the party's mid-term convention expressed explicitly that they want a party available to all of society and this is being realized through Affirmative Action," Spain said.

All states were required to draft an affirmative action plan as a result of the national party constitution approved at the 1974 mid-term convention in Kansas City. The Democratic State Committee approved a Missouri Affirmative Action plan March 13 that now is being considered by the Compliance and Review Commission of the Democratic National Committee.

Spain told the Democratic gathering he thinks the commission will approve the Missouri plan, saying it follows guidelines set down by the national party organization.

Explaining the Affirmative Action Program, Spain said: "It's a vigorous program to expand the role of minority groups in the party's delegate selection. It's an educational and publicity effort to inform Americans of the selection process from the local level on up. We want as broad of participation as we can get. And Affirmative Action is the best vehicle to insure that objective is met."

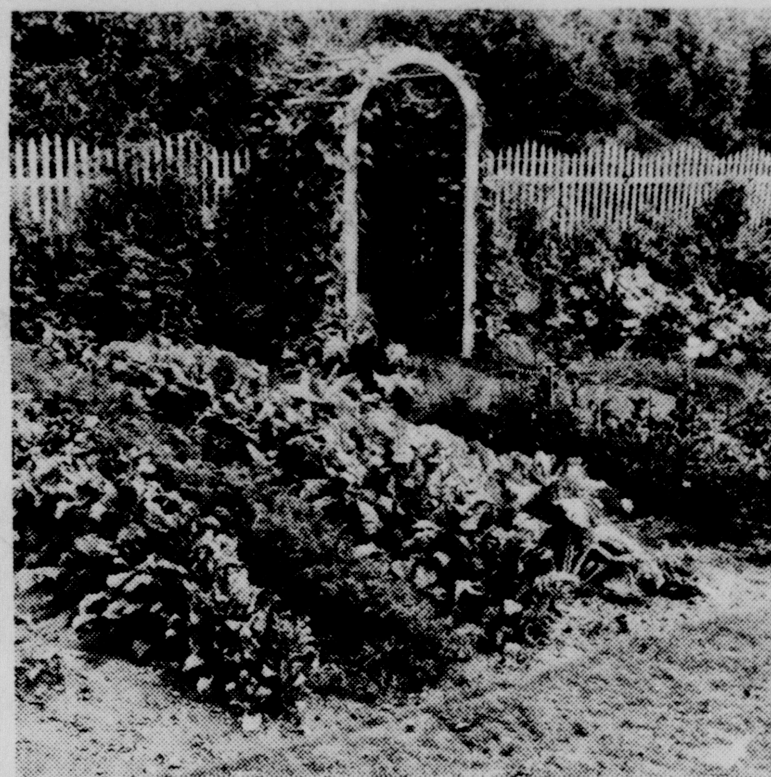
JACK ELROD



A small area well cared for will yield more than a large area that is neglected. Too many beginner gardeners let their enthusiasm get the better of them, try to plant too large an area (such as 50 ft. by 50 ft.), and then realize they don't have the time to keep up with it. A good size for an inexperienced beginner is 10 ft. by 16 ft., planted with basic easy-to-grow vegetables such as lettuce, radish, tomatoes, snap beans, carrots and similar varieties that give worthwhile yields from relatively small space.

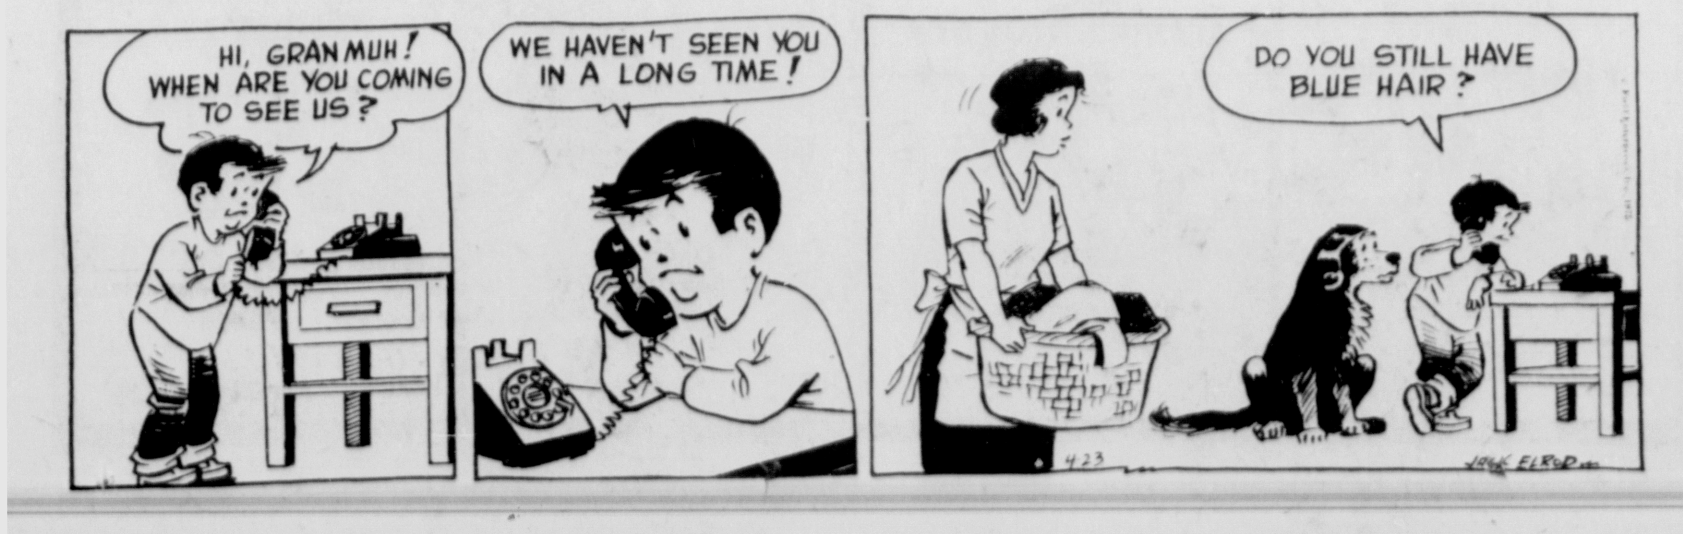
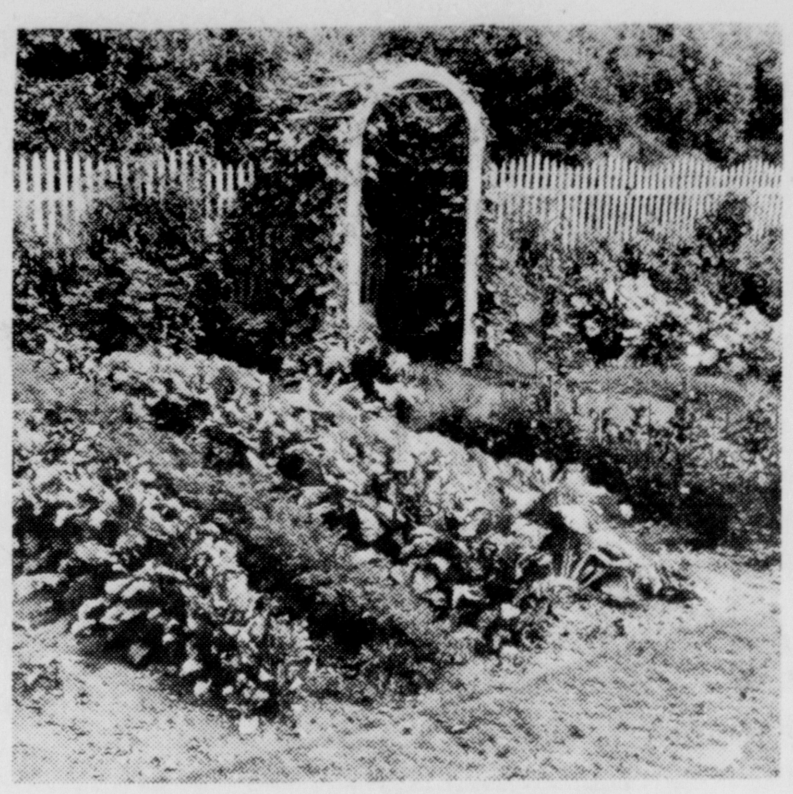
THE RYATTS By Jack Elrod



HI, GRANMUH! WHEN ARE YOU COMING TO SEE US?
WE HAVEN'T SEEN YOU IN A LONG TIME!
DO YOU STILL HAVE BLUE HAIR?
4-23
Jack Elrod



A small area well cared for will yield more than a large area that is neglected. Too many beginner gardeners let their enthusiasm get the better of them, try to plant too large an area (such as 50 ft. by 50 ft.), and then realize they don't have the time to keep up with it. A good size for an inexperienced beginner is 10 ft. by 16 ft., planted with basic easy-to-grow vegetables such as lettuce, radish, tomatoes, snap beans, carrots and similar varieties that give worthwhile yields from relatively small space.

Economy tips offered to reduce building costs

By ALFRED C. SIKES
Director of Regulation and Licensing

JEFFERSON CITY — In response to a slump in the home construction industry, efforts are being made to encourage consumers to build new houses. If you are considering such an investment, which is the largest most consumers ever make, follow some economy measures to avoid being swamped with devastating inflationary costs of building a home.

Economical construction does not mean inferior construction. Plan the house carefully on paper before you begin, avoid unnecessary, expensive features and, if possible, do some of the work yourself.

Following are some specific ways to reduce the cost of building a home.

Prepare adequately for construction:

— Obtain written estimates from at least three contractors of the cost of building the home you plan. Check the reputation of each to avoid poor construction. Also ask each his expected completion date, method of payment required and what guarantees he provides.

— Carefully choose the location of your home. Take advantage of sun orientation during the winter to save on heating costs and shade during the summer to cut cooling costs. Assure good accessibility to avoid necessary construction of costly private roads, and check the availability of public utilities.

Design your home to meet your family's needs and remember these tips:

— Rectangular floor plans cost less per square foot to build than irregular shapes.

—Two-story houses cost less per square foot than single-story houses.

— Basements add low-cost space to a house that can be valuable for additional living quarters.

Interior design can be arranged for economy:

— Make rooms multi-purpose. For example, combine a family room and kitchen.

— Large openings between rooms make small areas functionally larger.

— If room dimensions conform to standard floor covering sizes, you can reduce costs.

— Concentrate plumbing fixtures as much as possible to reduce the amount of piping required. In two-story homes, locate bathrooms and kitchens directly above or below one another. Or, in a single-story house, locate plumbing units back to back.

The selection of construction materials is economically important:

— Buy locally to avoid shipping charges and in quantity to avoid the higher cost of small, more frequent deliveries.

— Buy stock materials in standard sizes. The purchase of standard-size door and window frames can reduce the cost of doors and drapery.

— Walls made of materials that form both the exterior and interior wall surface are more economical than composite walls.

— Shop around to get the most for your money.

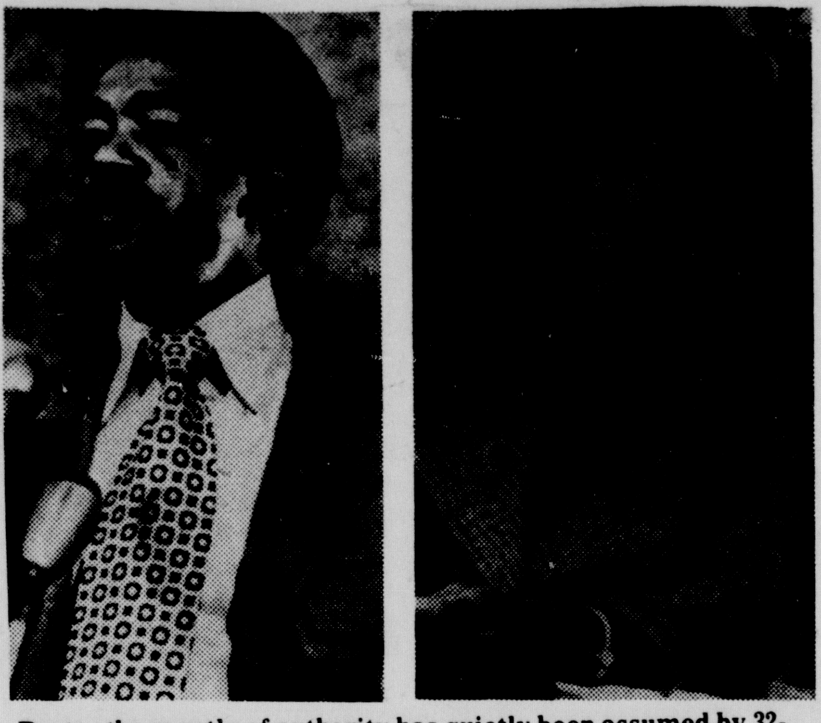
Hearnes hopes for similar performance

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Former Gov. Warren Hearnes, challenging Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., for the U.S. Senate in 1976, is hoping he can duplicate Symington's 1952 performance in winning the office.

A federal investigation into Hearnes' administration has damaged his credibility with voters, the former governor said Monday, and that damage must be repaired if he is to win the Democratic Senate nomination.

Symington was also the subject of a federal investigation in 1952, but no indictments resulted and Symington was successful in his bid for the Senate.

Heanres is being investigated for possible income tax violations but has already been cleared by U-S Attorney Bert C. Hurn of any wrongdoing during the 1968 re-election campaign.



Party, the mantle of authority has quietly been assumed by 32-year-old Elaine Brown (right), former school teacher from Oakland, Calif.

Students cited for perfect -attendance

EAST PRAIRIE — The third quarter perfect attendance list at A. L. Webb Junior High School has been announced.

Students who attended every day in the quarter include:

Seventh grade — Jimmy Achter, Renee Bard, Scott Bryant, Jeffrey Byrge, Billy Caldwell, Marty Carlyle, Larry Clark, Susan Clark, Kevin Coffer, Donna Cook, Cherrie Croney, Joe Cummins, Marcia Davis, Kathy Demay, Gary Ditto, Rhonda Dorris, Terry Dunigan.

Thomas Eledge, Beth Emory, Joyce Gillian, Danny Gore, Tonya Greenwood, Keith Grigsby, Jorita Grubbs, Mary Haley, Terry Hedges, Rita Henderson, Beth Hutcheson, Cheryl Ivie, Jeffrey Jernigan, Yvette Johnson, Brenda Jones, Tony Jordan, Mary Linhart.

Brenda McWhirter, David Morgan, Elaine O'Dell, Sharon Parham, Harrell Pearson, Sueretha Petty, Karen Ponder, Lee Powers, Linda Ray, Larry Taylor, Sheila Thresher, Sue Thurman, Donna Turnbo, Michael Walker, Kendall Wallace, Gregory Weaver, Darrell Williams, Lena Williams and Wayne Woods.

POPLAR BLUFF — George T. Johnson (Lt. Col.) of Sikeston was elected second vice president of the Southeast Missouri chapter of the Retired Officers Association Saturday night at a meeting in Chico's Restaurant.

Other officers elected and installed were John Painter (Lt. Cmdr.) of Poplar Bluff, president; Robert Myrant (CWO) of Poplar Bluff, first vice president; Hollan Fann (Lt. Col.) of Puxico, third vice president; Byford F. Long (Lt. Col.) of Poplar Bluff, secretary; and Donald Jewell (CWO) of Poplar Bluff, treasurer.

The Southeast Missouri chapter will participate with other veterans organizations in upcoming Memorial Day and Fourth of July celebrations. Plans are being made in connection with Memorial Day ceremonies to be held May 30 in the Veterans Plot at the Poplar Bluff City Cemetery.

The next meeting of the SeMo chapter, scheduled at 7:30 p.m. May 17 in Chico's Restaurant, is open to all retired, reserve or active duty officers in Southeast Missouri.

Humor triumphs . . .

Humor seemed to be the theme of amateur photographers entering the annual Kodak International Newspaper Snapshot Awards sponsored by Kodak and 103 newspapers. At left, this discus thrower's classic pose would be lost if he were human and this critter scrambled up his leg. The entry won a merit certificate for Mrs. Robert Curl of Birmingham, Ala. Four-year-old Nancy Jane Myerson's antics under a garden hose (right) in Hartford, Conn. won her mother $500. Sinking his teeth into the task at hand, five-month old "Alika" of Honolulu (below, left) gums the bar used to keep him above the pool's surface during swimming instructions. His teacher, Mary Ann Sears, won $100 for the shot. A big horse laugh (below, center) netted shutterbug Harry Gruener of Pittsburgh a merit certificate for his entry. Moses predicts a "good year" ahead from his pedestal at Notre Dame University. John A. DesJardins clever photo won him $100.

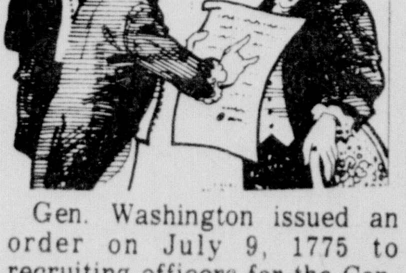
BICENTENNIAL FACTS



Gen. Washington issued an order on July 9, 1775 to recruiting officers for the Continental Army that they were not to enlist "any deserter from the ministerial army, nor any stroller, negro, or vagabond, or person suspected of being an enemy to the liberty of America. . ." The World Almanac notes that after learning of Lord Dunmore's proclamation offering freedom to all slaves who joined the King's Army, Washington permitted the enlisting of free Negroes.

Retired officers elect Johnson as president

POPLAR BLUFF — George T. Johnson (Lt. Col.) of Sikeston was elected second vice president of the Southeast Missouri chapter of the Retired Officers Association Saturday night at a meeting in Chico's Restaurant.

Other officers elected and installed were John Painter (Lt. Cmdr.) of Poplar Bluff, president; Robert Myrant (CWO) of Poplar Bluff, first vice president; Hollan Fann (Lt. Col.) of Puxico, third vice president; Byford F. Long (Lt. Col.) of Poplar Bluff, secretary; and Donald Jewell (CWO) of Poplar Bluff, treasurer.

The Southeast Missouri chapter will participate with other veterans organizations in upcoming Memorial Day and Fourth of July celebrations. Plans are being made in connection with Memorial Day ceremonies to be held May 30 in the Veterans Plot at the Poplar Bluff City Cemetery.

The next meeting of the SeMo chapter, scheduled at 7:30 p.m. May 17 in Chico's Restaurant, is open to all retired, reserve or active duty officers in Southeast Missouri.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

April 15, 1975

Mr. Charley Blanton
Sikeston Daily Standard
Sikeston, Missouri 63801

Dear Mr. Blanton:

I sent the following letter to Colonel A. C. Lehman, Corps of Engineers, and I sent a copy to the Governor. I have not heard from the Corps of Engineers, but I had the following letter from the Governor this morning.

Very sincerely,
Nelson B. Tinnin
Senator

Colonel A. C. Lehman
Corps of Engineers
Memphis District
Department of the Army
United States Government
Memphis, Tennessee 38103

Dear Colonel Lehman:

The City of Hornersville will be flooded with two feet of water covering our city. This flood water would flood our sewage lagoon, and produce terrible health hazards to our people.

I urge you to request of Arkansas, the Governor, if you please, to permit you to let contracts immediately to degrade the leveees east of Ditch 81 to permit flowage of the excessive amount of water we get here every year. You are well aware of the excessive amount of water for about seventy-five or eighty miles of here that comes down Floodway, or No. 1 Ditch. I know, because I own farmland on Castor River, and just had five breaks, going over my land and many others in Stoddard County. This water all comes down here and floods our area here every year. This is not just a one time thing that happens every ten to twenty years, but this happens at least once every year. This an annual happening in this area; the rains prevail during March and April every year, and too often this happens during July. I remember this situation well since 1927, and every ten years we have one hell of a lot of water that surpasses anything we have had before.

I urge you to prevail on the good conscience of our neighboring Governor, to permit an early contract to degrade the levees. You know this is necessary to the health and safety of our city and citizens of Hornersville. All landowners are burdened with high drainage taxes which we pay every year, and never receive any benefit. For three years Castor River has broken on my farm in Stoddard County, and I pay more than one thousand dollars a year just on that one farm, and the only thing I get out of it is another flood the next year.

Very sincerely,
NelsonB. Tinnin
Senator

Dear Nelson:

Thank you for sending me a copy of your letter to Colonel A. C. Lehman,Corps of Army Engineers.

In an effort to survey the flooding problems in the bootheel of Missouri, I have asked Director James Boillot to personally fly to that area and bring me a report on the conditions.

Since the initial rise in the flood waters in the Mississippi, I have directed the National Guard Disaster Relief Operations to keep a constant eye on the Stoddard County and surrounding bootheel area. They have advised me that the flood waters are now receding andan estimate of the public damage will soon be brought to my attention.

I support you in your efforts to have the Corps of Engineers permit flowage ofthe excessive amount of water from the Castor River in Stoddard County. If I can be of any personal assistance please advise me.

Sincerely,
Kit
